Heavy Rains Pelt Warren, Damage Light

Heavy rains pelted Warren last night and, coupled with strong winds, resulted in temporary blackouts of lights and communications in scattered areas, but damage was light and both utilities reported service was rapidly restored.

New Conewango Twp. Group Visits Meeting

Conewango Supervisors last night welcomed two members of the newly founded Civic Improvement Association of the township to their meeting.

AFTER clarifying several points, the supervisors agreed the association "is a good thing" as long as it is "constructive and not destructive."

Ralph Ward, chairman, said he was glad the association had been established. "Because of our past experience with the proposed zoning ordinance and the unnecessary abuse that was heaped upon the supervisors and members of the planning commission, we hope that the association will alleviate this type of reaction."

THE chairman conceded that the educational process regarding the ordinance had been lax. However, he continued, by the time the third meeting was conducted to discuss the ordinance, those in favor should have come forward. Ward said the planning and zoning commission is still active but have been instructed to do no further work on zoning.

Ed Betts, reiterated a stand taken at the association's last meeting. At that time he had made reference to the remark "every once in awhile someone has to tell the elected officials off."

This remark, Betts contended, got the organization off on the wrong foot. He agreed that the supervisors should be checked and stated, he had been coming to see them about various matters for some time.

In Tidioute School Project:

Labor Dispute May Reduce State Aid

TIDIOUTE—With work halted on the Tidioute School building project because of labor disputes, officials expressed concern today about the possibility of losing some state reimbursement if school begins late in the fall.

R. K. Cyphert, school board president, said a tight schedule had been set, with school scheduled to resume at the latest on Oct. 11.

With four day's work lost last week and one this week, officials are beginning to doubt that the projects will be completed in time for the school to operate the 180 state mandated school days.

IN addition they contend, that the graduation class of 1962-63 will be hurt if the school does not open at a reasonable time. Unlike most other districts, Tidioute has no place to conduct classes if the projects are not completed.

The project includes complete renovation of the existing high school and a new elementary addition. Work on the high school has already begun.

PLUMBERS working on the project went out last Tuesday. Up until yesterday they had pickets and other trade members would not cross the line.

However, Cyphert said, the pickets were removed today and carpenters and laborers returned to work this morning.

Cyphert said the plumbers had agreed to remove the pickets for three days, ending tomorrow. What happens after that, he said he did not know.

ONLY three or four days work remains before steel will be needed. This poses another problem to school officials.

A steelworkers' strike is in progress in Erie County and local workers, in recognition of the strike, refuse to unload steel delivered into the county.

Cyphert said the State School Building Authority has refused to intervene. There is nothing the school district can do, because the bids for the contracts were handled by the building authority.

20 Teachers Quit Here In Year, Board Told

A summary of Schools Superintendent Carl E. Whipple's report to the Department of Public Instruction shows that 20 teachers have resigned this year, it was noted last night at a meeting of the Warren Area School Board.

SEVERAL office employees have also resigned recently, Whipple reported. Melvin G. Keller, president of the board, recommended that a study be made, of clerical administrative salary structure in an effort to avoid a heavy turnover in office personnel. He has on numerous previous occasions recommended higher salaries for teachers.

The board approved 1964-65 as the date of the next evaluation of the high school by the Middle States Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, since a letter to Joseph Passaro, principal, informed him that evaluation need not take place until that time.

IT was decided to wait until December to re-figure Kinzua percentages, continuing instruction for Kinzua students on the present basis, although Whipple told the board that it has already cost the borough $11,000 with payments based on figures established earlier.

A DPI report on secondary board, shows that the WAHS Class of 1961 has a higher percentage of students attending college than the combined average of high schools in the state. Warren had 38 per cent of the boys graduating last year going on to a college or university; the state per cent is 34. Warren's percentage of girls was 29; the state's, 21.

THE report also showed Warren Area High School is one of 164 three-year high schools in the state with an average enrollment of 1,000 to 1,500. Only 16% of these high schools have larger enrollments than Warren High.

An adjustment of current expense based on average daily membership in school attendance shows additional payments due from Clarendon district, $372.93. —See '20 Teachers,' Pg. 10

WAHS 'Road' Sparks School Board Debate

A payment due the architect of the new high school, mentioned in the report of the Finance Committee of the Warren Area School Board, brought forth heated discussion last night as to the condition of the "road" leading from Fifth Avenue to the school building.

R. Pierson Eaton, board solicitor, pointed out to the group that any of three areas may be responsible for the situation—the engineering may be questionable, the specifications were changed at the time the contracts were let from crushed slag to gravel, and there

Businessmen To Study Effort To Halt Flow Of Gold from America

Troops To Stay On Duty

By SPENCER DAVIS
WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States will keep military forces in Thailand for the time being despite the agreement of neighboring Laos' three political princes to form a coalition government.

High U.S. officials, in disclosing this today, said they believe the threat of a Communist-dominated Laos has been averted, at least for the present.

However, the new Laotian government is expected to be too weak at the outset to halt the threat of Red infiltration from neighboring North Viet Nam.

U.S. troops in Thailand, which now number about 4,800, are being retained there as a protection against Communist infiltration into that U.S.-allied country.

The United States is concerned, too, about the infiltration of Communist guerrillas into pro-Western South Viet Nam via a corridor through southern Laos. This flow is expected to continue.

U.S. officials are hopeful that the 14-nation Geneva conference on Laos can meet by the first week of July, or possibly sooner, to put into effect the agreements which will neutralize Laos and remove it from the cold war arena.

Prince Souvanna Phouma, premier-designate of the new coalition government, is expected to head the Laotian delegation at Geneva.

There is still a blank spot in the Geneva agreement which remains to be negotiated. This is a declaration by Laos of the neutrality it expects to maintain under its new government of national union.

American authorities are now going on the assumption that the military dispute that divided the little Southeast Asian kingdom can be shifted to the political arena.

With the progress made thus far toward setting up a coalition government, the United States can resume its financial assistance to the royal government and will be ready to continue aid to the new Souvanna Phouma government once it has taken the reins of power.

is considerable evidence of "a slipshod job by the subcontractor."

The road has given out not only in spots but also on the top, on level ground in front of the school building.

The Branna Construction Co., contractor, backed by Lampi Asphalt Paving Co., the subcontractor, says that the problem is one of engineering and subsoil conditions.

TEMPORARY repairs have been made from time to time, but the time has come, Eaton told the group, "to decide what you're going to do."

He recommended that the contractor be told to fix the road and "fix it fast," and that a time limit be set such as 30 days. If the road is not put in proper condition by that time, he said, the board should have it done and deduct the amount from his bill.

DUBLIN (AP)—Dublin's lord mayor, Robert Briscoe, came back from a three-months' tour of the United States Monday, looking tired and minus his voice.

He blamed it on overstrain, too much talk, and a throat operation in New York last Thursday.

To Make Suggestions On 'Payments' Deficit

WASHINGTON (AP)—A group of top ranking businessmen has agreed to examine the Kennedy administration's steps to half the balance of payments deficit and to make recommendations on how to stop the resulting flow of U. S. gold abroad.

The businessmen, headed by U. S. Steel Corp. Chairman Roger M. Blough, conferred with President Kennedy for an hour Monday night. Afterward, White House press secretary Pierre Salinger said they had agreed to make the balance of payments study.

The meeting followed Kennedy's appeal Monday in a Yale University commencement speech for cooperation between the government and all segments of the economy.

Salinger said of the meeting: "The President feels that this kind of cooperation is most important and is the kind of cooperation that can be most helpful between business and the government."

In his speech earlier in the day Kennedy had declared: "The solid ground of mutual confidence is the necessary partnership of government with all sectors of our society in the steady quest for economic progress."

The President also said those who blame his administration for the sharp decline in stock prices are raising a false issue.

Two of his most frequent Republican critics—Senate Minority Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois and House Minority Leader Charles Halleck of Indiana—hammered away again Monday on the subject of the economy at a news

Fourth Red Spy Vessel Eyes Tests

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviet Union has sent a fourth ship bristling with scientific instruments to spy on U.S. nuclear tests in the Pacific.

This addition to the Russian snooper patrol was disclosed today as the United States prepared for a second try at firing a nuclear device at a high altitude over Johnston Island.

Informed sources indicated the shot—biggest of the U.S. test series—is likely late this week. The Federal Aviation Agency said Monday the shot more than 500 miles over the Johnston Island test area is expected to blot out instantly all high frequency radio communications in the Pacific. Some of the disruption will last 32 hours or longer, the FAA said.

The first high-altitude test shot ended disastrously June 4 when a Thor missile carrying the warhead aloft was purposely destroyed after the rocket tracking system developed trouble.

The presence of three Soviet instrument ships within 10 to 15 miles of the Pacific test area was announced by the Defense Department 18 days ago. It said they

Kennedy Lieutenants Seek Compromise On Controversial Medicare Program

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy's lieutenants and his legislative supporters are off on a new and crucial quest—a compromise version of his health care plan which the House Ways and Means Committee might accept.

As the committee renewed consideration of the proposal the White House showed signs Monday of giving ground. Secretary of Welfare Abraham Ribicoff's proposals to the panel in a closed session apparently signaled administration acceptance of two propositions:

1. Unless it is substantially changed, the proposal has no chance of obtaining approval by the powerful tax-writing committee which has had it on the table more than a year.

2. Unless the committee approves it, the measure has only a minute chance of enactment before Congress adjourns and the congressional election campaigns begin.

Asking not to be quoted directly, committee supporters of the bill said in interviews that Ribicoff's comments left no doubt the administration earnestly wants a bill this year.

It was understood Ribicoff told the committee Kennedy would have no part of a measure which did not contain Social Security financing for his health program for the aged. Everything else, so these sources were given to believe, is negotiable.

At a news conference House Republican Leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana took note of the administration's maneuvering and characterized it as a sign of defeat.

"I say they haven't got the votes to get this bill out of the Ways and Means Committee or to pass it in the House," Halleck said. "There is a growing awareness that this bill is not good."

The original administration proposal was for a schedule of hospital, nursing home and outpatient benefits — not including ordinary doctor bills — to be available to aged persons retired under Social Security and to be paid for by an increase in the payroll tax on employers and employees.

Possible areas of compromise would include the scale of benefits to be offered and the corresponding cost; provisions to take care of persons not covered by Social Security, which, according to estimates, could involve an outlay of as much as $150 million a year from the general fund of the Treasury, and devices to reassure hospitals which would fear federal domination from the contract provisions of the original bill.

Lawrence May Not Fill Vacancy On State's Supreme Court Bench

HARRISBURG (AP) — Gov. Lawrence indicated today he may not fill the vacancy on the state Supreme Court bench.

He said he has no candidate to suggest to the Democratic State Committee when it meets here Wednesday and noted that the court's schedule for the remainder of the year appears light.

"I don't know whether I'll appoint or not," he said at his weekly news conference.

A seat became vacant last month on the death of Justice Curtis Bok of Philadelphia, a Democrat.

Whether or not Lawrence appoints someone to fill the vacancy until next January, a new justice will be elected to a 21-year term Nov. 6.

The court now is divided evenly, politically, with three Republicans and three Democrats.

Lawrence announced at the start of the news conference that his wife, Alyce, is going to enter Johns Hopkins Hospital for a checkup and special treatments.

The governor said Mrs. Lawrence has been having trouble with a back ailment for a year or more and: "The doctor here said they (Johns Hopkins) have some kind of a treatment that might help her."

The governor did not identify Mrs. Lawrence's ailment other than to say it had something to do with calcium deposits.

On other subjects:

Budget — Lawrence said "we'll be all right" in the administration's efforts to balance the $1 billion 1961-62 budget when the fiscal period ends this month. At the end of May revenues were some $10 million behind estimates.

Replying to Republican State Chairman George I. Bloom's weekend statement that the administration was putting the squeeze on departments to cut spending in this final month, Lawrence said:

"Mr. Bloom probably doesn't know we've had the squeeze on here since January of 1959 (when Lawrence took office)."

"He (Bloom) has got a tough job beating down the feeling people have toward an administration that balances the budget."

Lawrence blamed the regular budget deficits of the past decade or more on Republican-controlled legislatures. "It's over there where they've made appropriations and didn't have the money."

In this respect, he quoted former Gov. John S. Fine, the state's last Republican governor (1951-55) as telling him when Fine took office that "these fellows told me

Channel Chatter

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — Julie Andrews and Carol Burnett are two of the brightest, most endearing and talented entertainers in all of show business. As a team, they work beautifully together.

But somebody did them wrong with the material, direction and photography they were given in last night's CBS special, "Julie and Carol at Carnegie Hall."

The concept was great: present the girls to an audience in Carnegie Hall and then proceed to have them satirize the usual type of entertainment seen at the venerable New York auditorium.

Thus we had them poking fun at Russian dance groups—these the Nausiev Dancers and Swiss family singers, identifiably labeled the "Pratt Family Singers."

This idea was fine, and the music was perfect. But after gay, funny starts, the comedy plummeted to banana-peel level and the funny words just weren't there.

The show, largely because of the writing and production, was a sharp disappointment.

NBC played a dirty trick on Sunday viewers during its coverage of the $100,000 golf tournament from Upper Montclair, N.J. The announcer built up the suspense around Jack Nicklaus, repeatedly remarking that Nicklaus, a powerful hitter, had a chance to catch up with the front runners on the 18th hole.

Nicklaus drove onto the green in two spectacular shots—but we didn't see them because NBC chose those dramatic moments to cut away from the match and regale us with a whole clutch of commercials.

Atomic Arms Still Here, Taylor Says

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Although the United States has re-evaluated its need for conventional warfare, atomic weapons still would be used if necessary, President Kennedy's military advisor said Monday.

But Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, speaking at the University of Pittsburgh commencement, said the country no longer relies on atomic weapons and massive retaliation for primary security.

He added, "There is no justification for thinking that the development of conventional strength implies an unwillingness to use atomic weapons if they are clearly required."

Taylor said the western nations have been forced to train their forces in guerrilla methods because of the Communist advances through guerrilla warfare in Vietnam and other Southeast Asian nations.

"These forces give our leaders a flexibility of decision and an ability to apply force commensurate with the nature of the challenge," Taylor said.

The former army chief of staff added that atomic weapons could be held in reserve as a last resort.

Area News Roundup

Work To Begin On Dangerous Intersection

FRANKLIN — Construction is expected to start soon on a highway project designed to eliminate the dangerous Frills Corners intersection of Routes 36 and 66 in Clarion county.

The relocation will require the razing of a service station, warehouse building and two homes.

The Black Lick Construction Co. has been awarded a $91,786.76 contract to reconstruct some 840 feet of Route 66 to the south of the intersection and 1,110 feet to the north. The new traffic lane will be located approximately 18 feet west of the present one.

Four islands will provide safer approaches onto both routes from any point, according to highway department plans.

Young Cousins Die

OIL CITY—Two young cousins, 11 and 13 months old, died in Oil City Hospital Sunday evening 35 minutes apart.

The deaths were attributed to heart conditions.

Power Rates Viewed

BRADFORD—Advantages in the retention of Bradford's franchise with the Pennsylvania Electric Co. rather than operating a municipal distribution service with power purchased for resale were sketched yesterday morning in a special Council session.

Among advantages cited by Penelec officials were lower rates, better maintenance and service, advanced modern technology and local employment.

Warning Posed

ERIE — Councilman Michael Cannavino said yesterday that he will warn Council tomorrow that curtailment of fire service in the southeast portion of Erie poses the threat of higher fire insurance rates in the city.

Administration spokesmen announced last week that a fire house will be closed and a rescue unit transferred, leaving the city's largest ward with only one fire station.

Oppose Act 561

TITUSVILLE — The Titusville Area School Board went on record

last night as being opposed to Act 561 which would force area schools to merge with those in other districts by 1965.

The group did, however, indicate that it was in favor of having present school districts in the county merged into a single county district.

No Fluoride Decision

OIL CITY—Council failed to reach decisions last night on the city's controversial fluoridation program and the curtailing of hours for parking meters.

A survey and investigation is still under way on the fluoridation issue, it was reported. The parking problem is also under study, and it was said that it will be sometime before a decision is reached.

Asks Two Districts

FRANKLIN — Franklin area school directors went on record last night as favoring two school districts in Venango County under Act 561.

Franklin area board members will meet next Thursday with the Venango County School Board to discuss the redistricting program.

Garbage Demonstrator

TITUSVILLE — An $8,000 garbage truck demonstrator is assuming the city's collection chores today.

If the city were to abandon its garbage disposal plant and adopt the land-fill method of disposal, Councilman William J. Milliken has indicated, considerable money could be saved because one truck could do the job of the present three.

Diplomas for Kiddies

LIMESTONE, N. Y. — Bachelor of rhymes diplomas will be presented to 29 kindergarten children Thursday during class commencement exercises to be held in the high school auditorium.

Featured on the program is a class presentation of an operetta.

Tidioute School Board Cleans Up Year's Business

TIDIOUTE—Meeting for the first time in the temporary school office in the Norton Wood Products Office Building, the Tidioute Area Joint School Committee last night took care of the last details of the close of the 1962 school year; heard reports on building progress and were shown the color schemes for all rooms to be decorated, both in the new building and the renovated Hunter Memorial School building.

George B. King, chairman of the building committee, reported that laborers were expected to report back to work this morning following last week's strike by the Plumbers' Union. He said that the head of the building trade union had promised not to picket. Previous to the strike, King said the work was about five days ahead of schedule.

Routine items on the agenda included the acceptance of the resignation of Virgil Taylor, manual arts teacher, with regret, as he has done an excellent job in Tidioute. Taylor will accept a teaching position at Northwestern School in Albion, his original home.

The issuance of a permanent professional contract for Eugene Zuel was approved as were the teacher absences according to the school code. Applications were read from two local women who are interested in operating the new cafeteria but at present plans are so indefinite as to its opening, that the letters were placed on file in the order of their receipt.

A letter of appreciation will be sent to the City Garage for the use of the driver training car this past year. Charles Anderson, supervising principal, reported that there are 20 students in the regular summer school band, 10 new trumpet and bugle players, one trombone and one snare drum. Maxwell Dunham is the instructor. In commending the upper class students who helped to vacate the present school building on the last day of school, he said, "The students and faculty did an excellent job, but school as a school day was useless, but the moving was accomplished on time!"

In connection with the moving of equipment to storage places, the committee voted a reimbursement for the use of the Steve Bosko truck for three months, assistance from Jack Wolfe and to Virgil Taylor who assisted with crating and storing school equipment. These reimbursements were in addition to that given to Geo. Morrison who moved desks and chairs.

Auditors appointed for the 1961-62 year are Miss C. Druggan, W. Cook and Mrs. Helen Harrington with Clyde Daelhausen as alternate. Progress on bus contracts for the 1962-63 school year was reported but are not complete to date. Robert Schwab is committee chairman.

Activities reported for students and faculty include a Safety Patrol picnic scheduled for Wednesday, June 13 at Conneaut Lake. Twenty-eight students are eligible to attend. Mrs. Emma Johnson and Mrs. Cleopha Anderson plan to attend a Reading Clinic in Erie, June 25-29. Notice of a Summer Conference of Pennsylvania State School Directors Association at Indiana State College was read for July 20-22.

Total bills for the two months were $1168.94, payroll $3576.64 and net expenses $7855.00, all of which were ordered paid.

Anderson reported that a number of pieces of old furniture had been sold and that Miss Lillie Atkin, Postmistress, was taking care of the key to the building for any prospective buyer. It is hoped that moving accounts can be closed out and checks sent to districts about June 20, 1962.

HITTING A HIGH ONE—Peggy McCay and Lad, her collie, join in a bit of song from "Lad, a Dog," which will open at the Library Theatre at 2 p. m. on Wednesday. The show will be staged each day continuously from 2 p. m. The co-feature is the cartoon, "Adventures of a Roadrunner."

'Lad' Is the Story Of a Real Dog Hero

The real life adventures of one of the world's most famous collies, Lad, as set down in book form by Albert Payson Terhune in "Lad: A Dog" have been brought to the screen in the Technicolor presentation opening Wednesday at the Library Theatre. Peter Breck and Peggy McCay are starred in the Vanguard Production of Terhune's classic, which has gone through more than 70 printings since it was first published. The film is a Warner Bros. release.

It was in 1960, 41 years after the book was published that Terhune's widow was finally persuaded to give Producer Max J. Rosenberg permission to put the story on the screen. For four decades motion picture companies had attempted to obtain the rights to the warm and tender story of the fabulous Terhune collie, regarded by many as the greatest dog that ever lived.

Breck, one of Hollywood's most promising young actors, portrays Stephen Tremayne, the owner of Lad and the rolling Sunnysbank estate. This was a neat piece of type-casting since Breck owns four German shepherds.

Peggy McCay, another talented newcomer, plays Tremayne's wife, Elizabeth. She, too, coincidentally is a dog lover and dog owner. Although "Lad: A Dog" marks her motion picture debut she has scored consistently on TV and the New York stage.

Eight-year-old Angela Cartwright, regularly seen on the Danny Thomas TV show, is featured as a young girl whose paralysis is surmounted because of her devotion to Lad.

Months were spent in searching for a collie capable of duplicating the amazing accomplishments of the real Lad of fifty years ago.

A beautiful collie, Lord Byron, was found in a private home in the San Fernando Valley. Renamed Lad, the collie was trained for months by Pat LaCoss and learned to perform with the almost human understanding of his namesake.

In addition to Lad and his "screen" wife, Lady, and their pups, "Lad: A Dog" includes dog show scenes that spotlight four champion Samoyeds and a champion Yorkshire terrier.

11 County CD Directors Meet To Discuss Progress

Civil Defense directors from the 11 counties in northwestern Pennsylvania gathered in Warren yesterday to report on progress or lack of progress in their individual areas.

At a meeting conducted in the Conewango Club, the directors and assistant directors discussed the possibility of leasing buildings for fallout shelters in case of a national emergency.

W. C. Fuelhart is Civil Defense Director of Warren County. James Frantz is assistant director.

The meeting was called by Ross Webb, western Pennsylvania District Civil Defense Director.

This was the first district meeting to be conducted in Warren. Frantz said the purpose of the meeting was to discuss the fallout shelter program which is presently underway.

Most directors said that the programs were moving ahead but not at the pace anticipated. This,

Hollywood Reporting

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Pat Boone fans will simply have to face the fact that their boy has changed.

Not in real life. He is still the same clean-living, clean-thinking lad of yore.

But his movies — that's something else again.

Remember the sensation caused when Pat got his first kiss in a movie? Well, you should see him now.

Pat was just back from making "Main Attraction" in Austria and England for four and a half months. The role presents him in a light that his fans have never seen before.

"I'll admit I'm worried about their reaction," he said. "But I had to do it. I must do what I think is right for me, regardless of the consequences."

"I've already been hearing from them. They've read that I smoke in the picture, that I have a love affair with an older woman played by Mai Zetterling, and another one with Nancy Kwan.

"They're even complaining about 'State Fair,' which I didn't think was offensive at all. Of course, I got drunk in it and played a love scene with my shirt off with Ann-Margret. But the character I played was still a nice boy."

"I wouldn't mind playing 100 roles as nice boys in Walt Disney pictures; I'd like it, in fact. But there just aren't that many good roles as nice boys. I've been playing Pat Boone in every picture I've done. I've got to give the public something different if I'm going to last."

"Main Attraction" offered him a downbeat role as a drifter who burns around European circuses going from woman to woman. It had the saving grace of regeneration at the end through the love of a good girl.

"I thought that made it worth it," said Pat.

Good Turnout Forecast For Merchants' Picnic

A better-than-average turnout for the Warren Retailers' annual picnic was forecast this morning at a meeting of the picnic committee at the Chamber of Commerce offices.

The picnic this year will be held at the Marconi Outing Club, June 20.

Picnic committee chairman Jerry Waxman said that a new feature in the activities planned is a hole-in-one contest for golf enthusiasts "and anyone willing to take a chance."

A $25 bond will go to the first contestant sinking a hole-in-one. In the event that none are made, prizes of $10, $7.50, and $5 will go to contestants closest to the hole. Irons will be available.

Activities chairman Mark Bevevino has a tentative schedule planned of badminton, volleyball, softball and horseshoes, for those attending.

Tickets are available to merchants, industries, and professional men, and their employees, at $1.75.

In order to approximate attendance at the affair, chairman Waxman has arranged for picnic tickets to be available at the B & B Smoke Shop, United News, and the Golden Eagle News. Waxman said this will allow the committee to determine more precisely the number of reservations for the dinner. Lewis Caterers will serve the 7 p. m. dinner.

Dancing will take place from 9 to 12 with the music of Ford Winner.

The committee stressed that this year's picnic is slanted toward a couples' affair.

Committee members are Robert Bowen, John Carbon, Mark Bevevino, James Valone, David Potter, and Col. Henry Kerlin, executive secretary of the Chamber of Commerce.

Dear Abby . . .

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: What do you do with a husband who is insurance-shy? We have been married for 15 years and have four children, and he positively will not carry one cent worth of insurance unless he has to. (He has auto insurance because he can't drive a car without it.) The place where he works has some insurance on him, but in case something happened to him we could never make it on that. I am worried sick over it, but when I bring it up he says, "You're a real looker, Kiddo, and if something happened to me you could get another guy in 15 minutes." How can you reason with a man who takes this attitude? We are not POOR. We have a bank account in six figures!

DISGUSTED
DEAR DISGUSTED: Call a reputable insurance company and ask for an agent who can talk to a man who is bull-headed and ignorant about insurance. Insist that your husband hear him out. He will get an earful. A man who loves his wife and family OWES them this kind of protection.

DEAR ABBY: Seventeen months ago I married a nice woman. She was a thoughtful, tidy and affectionate girl. Now she doesn't even comb her hair any more, and her slip hangs down to her ankles. She smokes like a brush fire and likes to sleep her life away. I made a big mistake. I wish I could mail her back to her mother. What should I do?

DEPRESSED AND DISAPPOINTED
DEAR DEPRESSED: Your wife is obviously sick. Get her to a doctor. When a man takes a wife, she is no longer her mother's responsibility, but his! (The same thing could have happened to you.)

DEAR ABBY: Whenever we entertain, my husband and I take our guests' coats and hang them in the clothes closet. Some of our friends ask their guests to "lay their coats on the bed in the bedroom." We think this is awful. What do you think?

MRS. FUSSY
DEAR MRS. FUSSY: If you have the closet space to hang your guests' coats, congratulations. But some people do not, in which case there is nothing wrong with asking their guests to lay their wraps on the bed.

CONFIDENTIAL TO ETHEL: The grinding that would wear away to nothing a lesser stone, merely serves to give luster to a diamond.

How's the world treating you? For a personal, unpublished reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

An Unusual Idea

Late last week the government of Pakistan ceased, after four years, to rule by martial law and came under a constitutional government. This move followed a military coup four years ago in which a strongman took over the government and has ruled it since. Under the new constitution, this same man will continue to rule, but as president rather than as dictator.

However, it is not the seat of supreme power which interests us in this case. It is this little item buried in the information about the general elections which filled the seats in the Pakistani parliament:

All men were elected on a "personal" basis—NOT as members of political parties. Political parties are banned in Pakistan and, according to the president, will remain so, at least for the present. Pakistan has found that political parties, especially in a nation so-situated among enemies and potential enemies, are too prone to wheel and deal and there's the devil to pay.

So every man for himself at the polls! What a remarkable idea, to make a man run on his own merits instead of his party label. We wonder what would happen in such a situation were to come about here. We wonder if it would improve or degenerate the quality of our politicians.

Certainly such a man would owe political favors to no group, although he might to some individuals. He would have no party loyalties to trouble him, or to conflict with his conscience on a crucial matter.

We are by no means suggesting that the United States outlaw all political parties, but we'll watch with interest what happens in Pakistan's "individual" parliament.

Dean Rusk: An Apology

Last week's issue of Henry Luce's Life magazine carried an interesting article by Pulitzer Prize reporter T. H. White on Kennedy's Secretary of State, Dean Rusk. Mr. White is an able reporter, but it was obvious that he was attempting to walk a tight line without drawing any firm conclusions. In fact, one might say that the article was not so much an exposition of Mr. Rusk as it was an exercise in journalistic diplomacy.

Mr. Rusk has come in for some sharp criticism, but it has not been sharp enough. A good Secretary of State needs to be somewhat controversial, we believe. Rusk is billed as a "good, quiet negotiator, but a poor administrator." This may be. But it also should be remembered that Rusk has been set aside on at least three occasions by his chief so that the chief could do his own negotiating. That would seem to indicate that Mr. Rusk is trusted just so far and no further.

Mr. White's task was not an easy one. It has not yet been determined if the fiercely Republican Mr. Luce has made his peace with the Democratic Mr. Kennedy. During the Eisenhower administration, Life magazine just about owned the United States government as far as special photographic coverage was concerned. The Air Force even went to the length of building special platforms for Life photographers so they could take cockpit-level views of Gen. Curtis LeMay after his record-breaking jet bomber flight. Other agencies went far out of their way to protect Life "exclusives," so that Mr. Luce would have a little spice to add to the left-over hash he's obliged to print — because of the time element — each week.

What the present situation is remains to be defined. Mr. Luce would appear to be teetering on the brink (if the ghost of John Foster Dulles will pardon us) of a luke-warm Democratism.

But as for the man behind the name Dean Rusk, one reads the article and ponders, for Mr. White, for all his usual lucidity, has managed to obscure the image more than it was obscured before. But then, that's what often happens — and is often intended — by people who burn incense before idols.

Again we approach one of those periods of the year when the weather forecast phrase "mean temperature" seems to take on an added MEANING.

Another movie may be made with a Trojan War background, we hear. A sort of wooden horse opera?

Snakes never travel in pairs—Factographs. Too slippery to trust each other?

Some Galapagos Island tortoises live to the ripe old age of 400 years, according to a nature item. A long life—but, certainly, far from a merry one!

Clothes, we read, may some day be made of a fabric derived from petroleum. We get it!—a new kind of oil cloth!

The ostrich, according to a book on zoology, is noted for its great speed and kicking power. Now if some coach could only teach it to understand football signals—!

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Proxmire in the Doghouse

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Charlie and Pushinka, the White House pooches, may have to move over in their doghouse to make room for Sen. Bill Proxmire of Wisconsin, the Senate push-up king. Proxmire is a Democrat. But no Republican Senator is more unpopular with the President.

He first brought the wrath of the White House down upon his head by working with Mississippi's segregationist Sen. Jim Eastland inside the Senate Agriculture Committee to scuttle the heart of the Kennedy farm program.

The President, though piqued, overlooked Proxmire's antics and dutifully invited him to fly in the Presidential party to a big Democratic dinner in Wisconsin. Whether you're a Republican or a Democrat, a Presidential invitation is regarded as a command. You don't refuse such an invitation. But Proxmire happily snubbed the offer to ride with the President.

The last straw was Proxmire's part in the Senate vote to ban economic aid to Communist countries, which may go down as the year's worst diplomatic disaster. It had exactly the opposite effect that its backers presumably intended, by playing right into the Kremlin's hands.

The hasty Senate ban on Communist aid came precisely at the time Premier Khrushchev had called satellite leaders to Moscow.

There are, however, almost no Yugoslavs

'Advise and Consent'

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

I rarely go to see motion pictures, limiting myself to the Late Show on television. However, I did go to see "Advise and Consent," as much out of curiosity as for enjoyment. It was tremendously impressed because of the unerring correctness of its presentation of the United States Senate.

I understand that there has been some objection to the varieties of personality portrayed. But that is precisely what the Senate is. No two Senators are alike. There is no Senatorial type and never has been in our history. The men who make the grade in the different states and finally land on top are of all sorts of backgrounds, of various ancestries. For instance, in the present Senate, Mike Mansfield and Eugene McCarthy are violently different from Frank Lausche and Jacob Javits, just as the states they come from are different. This is not a homogeneous country.

Charles Laughton, in my opinion, carries off the lead. He plays the Southern Senator as a Southern Senator used to be. There are not many of that kind left in the Senate, but in a play, years and years ago, called "The Gentleman from Mississippi," precisely such a personality was portrayed by Tom Wise.

The Senate Majority Leader, played by Walter Pidgeon, indicated a profound portrait. Few grasp what a Majority Leader is and what he does. Actually, he is the most important personality in the Legislative branch of government. When Lyndon Johnson was Majority Leader, he, a Democrat, often saved the Republican Administration of Dwight D. Eisenhower from falling on its face. Walter Pidgeon, I am sure, modeled himself on Lyndon Johnson.

I select these two from a large and notable cast because they make the Senate understandable. I am not at all concerned that the Producer, Otto Preminger, chose to make one Senator appear to be a homosexual and another a blabbermouth exhibitionist. There was such in the Senate, as there are fools and brilliant scholars, yappers and orators. This body is representative of a nation and our nation contains all kinds.

The homosexual case in New York seemed to be to be wasteful and unnecessary. It was dragged in for local color. Such places are to be found in Greenwich Village and in the Upper West Side and on Lexington Avenue. Preminger might have had a more usual incident to explain the Senator's fears of exposure for a distant past deed. However, he chose this one which is plausible as a source for blackmail. It is for this reason that all such persons should be fired from a government agency, particularly the State Department where they are always subject to blackmail.

I have not yet read the novel, "Advise and Consent," having more pressing engagements with the course of events, but the movie is excellent and the evening both enjoyable and informative to one whose life is full of Senators, Representatives and similar persons whose deeds make as much news as their words.

How To Keep Well

By DR. THEODORE VAN DELLEN

Several years ago I struck a hornet's nest when I wrote about the hazards of collecting and eating mushrooms. It never occurred to me that mushroom lovers were so sensitive, scientific, and vocal. (Cat lovers are worse).

I assumed that everyone knew that some mushrooms are dangerous but mentioning this fact was an insult to their intelligence. Their criticism was justifiable because no one should collect wild mushrooms for food unless he knows mushrooms. But we must be realistic because people continue to die from eating the poisonous kinds.

Many connoisseurs of the table toadstool own books on the subject, are careful to pick their own, never mix species, and wait until the edible variety is in good condition. They are sure of the identification and know the deadly species in their community.

But many more depend upon knowledge of mushrooms that has been handed down from generation to generation. These people may not realize that the species are different in another state or country.

Furthermore, they will eat anyone's mushrooms, assuming that the product was obtained from the market. These people may be lucky but ought to become better acquainted if they wish to live to an old age. Never trust anyone else to identify a wild mushroom and be critical of your own determinations. If you are not an expert, eat only those grown for the market.

We don't have the space to describe and illustrate the deadly and the edible types. Some are so toxic, even a small piece may cause death. In general, avoid species with white caps and gills.

The universal antidote and inducing vomiting should be tried when the individual discovers he consumed toxic mushrooms. But in most instances the first indications of poisoning occur 6 to 15 hours after calling them. The food has been digested, the poison is in the blood, and it must be neutralized with a product such as atropine. Drugs to relieve distress are prescribed also. All this means a physician must be called.

Albert M. Fuller, curator of botany at the Milwaukee public museum, recommends the following books in the Wisconsin Conservation bulletin.

Common Edible Mushrooms by Clyde M. Christensen.

The Mushroom Hunter's Field Guide by Alexander H. Smith.

Field Book of Common Mushrooms by William Sturgis.

REPLY—Not as a rule. Internal cancers rarely spread to the skin unless they are under the skin and grow outward. A breast cancer, for example may grow large enough to break through the skin, forming a malignant ulcer.

The Brighter Side

The Kid in New York...

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Many people who say they like to visit New York City but sure would hate to live here sometimes add:

"Worst of all, I'd hate to have to bring up a kid there."

They seem to feel that such a child is underprivileged, cheated of his childhood in some way, misses something in life. But for the life of me, I can't see why as time goes on, more and more of our children will be raised in fairly large cities. What virtues, skills or abilities will they lack that children have who are raised in the suburbs, the small towns, or on a farm?

None, in my opinion. How you

Letters To The Editor

TO THE EDITOR: We are at it again. By appointing a Controller in Warren County, we will save a lot of money. Did you ever hear of a politician that wasn't going to save you money, but I ask, did you ever hear of one that did. Changing our tax base with the spending of a large sum was going to create new taxable property that had missed assessment before, so your taxes would be about the same. I ask you men on pension, how did this turn out. Your taxes have gone up twice since the new tax base and they will continue to go up. Adding another $15,000.00 to the expense of running Warren County isn't going to help the taxpayer one dollar.

I would say it is about time we were waking up. Kicking out one politician and putting in another will not do it. Organizing a citizens or voters organization like Conewango Township is a good start. This idea of the tail wagging the dog isn't working out. Tell the politician or office holder who is paying his salary.

We have the same thing in Washington. They say the only trouble with our country is we are not spending enough. A debt so huge that it can never be repaid and the interest alone will soon be so large that it can't be met is the current budget, and then talk about not spending enough.

We are due for crash some of these days that will make the recent stock market crash seem like a Sunday school picnic.

Our country isn't appropriating property like Castro in Cuba, but with the taxes, hospital and doctor bills, the pensioner is losing his property just the same.

A Taxpayer

TO THE EDITOR: Seattle, Washington Monday, June 4, 1962 Dear Editor and Warren Friends:

I am sitting at a desk, by a large window overlooking the harbor of this great western city. As I write I can see the harbour lights glisten, and hear the moan of the ships and old freighters that come and go from all parts of the world.

My first week in Seattle, with side trips to the World's Fair, and water trips have all been colorful and interesting. Here is a city of vigor, scope and beauty. The streets are hilly, but wide, with traffic controlled and everyone moving at a good pace. The stores have a taste and flair for elegance, also the appearance of the people.

It is all so much like Fifth Avenue, New York. The buildings have a newness of youthful beauty, such as the Public Library, a combination of precast "Mo-Sai," "Sunset Red Granite" from Cold Springs, Minnesota and "Tennessee Pink" marble. Interior floor space of 200,000 sq. feet, with shelving area for one million volumes.

The artwork in this building is by the finest Northwest artists, such as Tsutakawa, Glenn Alps, James Fitzgerald and Ray Jensen. The building also has hundreds of large windows. Very little solid wall structure. All this is surrounded by beautiful landscaping of flowering rhododendron and azaleas, with a lovely fountain near the entrance.

The Fare-Thee-Well, or selective

Dinner in the space needle restaurant was quite fabulous. Every hostess was in a one-piece close fitting gold lame outfit, and while dining on broiled salmon and Caesar salad, Seattle shone like a brilliant jewel, as it did the evening I arrived by boat from a weekend in beautiful Vancouver and Victoria, British Columbia.

Regards to all,

GUY LOMBARDO WRITES
In that book I've promised my agents I'll write about my show-business experiences I will certainly have to include some memorable moments I have spent with presidents, kings, queens, princes and such.

Moments spent with such outstanding actors on the world's stage would be memorable if for nothing but the fact that they serve as reminders of what a wonderful life I have been privileged to lead—from a tailor's son in Canada to rubbing elbows with nations' leaders. Did someone once say "It could only happen in America?"

DURING his last months as governor of New York State—and while he was a Presidential candidate—Franklin D. Roosevelt was guest of honor at a dinner in Valley Stream, N. Y. My band was hired to play dance music for the occasion. In a very brief chat, I jestingly remarked to Gov. Roosevelt, "If you really like our music, you'll invite us to play for you in Washington when you become President."

No Republican pun intended, but Mr. Roosevelt must have had a mind like an elephant's. At his request we were invited to play at his first Inaugural Ball in 1933, the start of a long series of Inaugural Ball invitations for my band.

In fact, when Mr. Roosevelt became President it seemed as if my band was flying to Washington every month to play for one official occasion or another—in-inaugural balls, birthday parties, receptions for distinguished foreign visitors, etc. Dutifully, at each such occasion we played the song everyone knew was Mr. Roosevelt's favorite, "Home on the Range."

ABOUT the fifth or sixth time we played for President Roosevelt, he quietly drew me aside and asked, "Are you going to play 'Home On the Range' again tonight?" ... I answered, "Of course, Mr. President."

He sighed, "Well, I guess you'll have to play that damned song just to continue the legend. But I really hate it."
Everyone thought Gov. Dewey of New York was a cinch to win the election in Nov. 1948. Harry S. Truman, who had ascended to the Presidency upon the death of President Roosevelt in 1945 had been so counted out by the press that anyone predicting his victory would have been laughed at.

The Roosevelt Hotel, New York, was the Republican Party's campaign headquarters. Gov. Dewey spent the night there awaiting the election returns.
THINGS were quiet in the Roosevelt Grill, where my band was playing, that night. Everyone was watching TV or listening to radio for the election returns. Then, towards the end of the evening we noticed that dozens of lone men had come into the Grill and were sitting at a large table at one end of the room. Between sets I wandered over to find out who they were. They were Secret Service agents assigned to the Roosevelt Hotel. Had Gov. Dewey been elected President, these dozens of men would have surrounded him as his bodyguards. A short while earlier, however, Gov. Dewey had conceded defeat, and the Secret Service agents, whose services he no longer required, decided to have a small party of their own in the Roosevelt Grill. As was customary, I asked several of them if they had a favorite song I could play.

"Yes," one of them shouted, "Play The Missouri Waltz." I did.

We have been privileged to play for England's Queen Mother and for the present Queen Elizabeth at receptions held for them in New York. My musicians and I will never forget the Queen Mother's wide and lovely smile as she passed our bandstand and nodded approvingly at us. Since most of us were born in Canada, you can well imagine our thrill at being smiled at by Great Britain's Queen Mother.

THE moment I best remember during the evening we played for the present Queen occurred after the ball ended. I was invited to an informal gathering in a room at the rear of the Seventh Regiment Armory. Prince Philip was the center of attention as he regaled those of us who were there with his witty observations, and certainly flattered me when he asked if I would send him recordings of several tunes we had played during the night. At one point I happened to glance over my left shoulder, and found myself staring right into the eyes of Queen Elizabeth, standing about four feet away, all by herself. She looked as lonely as anyone can look. There was an awkward moment of silence as I tried to think of something to say. But words wouldn't come, and she finally smiled, turned and walked to a nearby seat and sat down—alone.

Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—In his Yale speech President Kennedy makes it plain government wants to co-operate with business—but along the lines of a new economy he envisions.

And in their reaction to the government-business clashes this spring most businessmen have made it plain they think government-business cooperation is essential—but that the old rules should still apply.

In its own reaction the stock market also has stuck close to the old rules—prices go down when uncertainties pile up and hold the possibility of a decline in profits and business activity—no matter who's to blame, government, business, or stock traders themselves.

The Yale speech seems to put the differences between government and business into clearer focus if only because of the flat statement that the government will continue its "watchful concern for our economic health" and insist that business and labor live up to their responsibilities to the public interest, as the government interprets it.

The President says in effect his administration is anxious to ally businessmen's fears that it is.

But the President calls upon his business critics to give ground—to abandon what he calls their stubborn allegiance to old myths and slogans—to move into what he sees as a new era in the nation's economy.

His chances of getting this concession by many businessmen immediately would seem pretty slim.

For one thing, they believe sincerely that economic laws don't change that easily, if at all. For another, many sincerely distrust the administration's vision of what would make the nation's economy grow at a faster pace. And still others note with some alarm a growing campaign to credit Europe's striking recovery from war damage as due to abandoning old fears of deficit financing.

The U.S. Treasury will close its fiscal books June 30 with a deficit. And if new spending proposed to pep up the economy, and tax cuts envisioned for next year, take final form the chances for deficit financing in the next fiscal year are strong.

Many fear this will fire up another round of inflation. To the ordinary citizen this means that the cost of living goes up because the market place value of the dollar goes down.

Others, including many of the President's close advisers, insist that the deficit spending will so pep up the economy that in following years there will be Treasury surpluses, strengthening the dollar in the long run.

The idea is only part of the administration's feeling that the government can't stand aside when the growth of the U.S. economy is at stake.

Hollywood Star System Under Fire in MM Row

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Hollywood's star system came in for sharp criticism today following 20th Century-Fox's decision to give up on, "Something's Got to Give."

Executive Vice President Peter Levathes announced cancellation of the film Monday night. The development was preceded by the sacking of Marilyn Monroe on Friday and co-star Dean Martin's subsequent refusal to work without her.

Levathes was terse in his announcement, saying only that the move was reluctantly made.

But the boss of another studio commented: "The star system has got way out of hand. We've let the inmates run the asylum and they've practically destroyed it."

Members of the crew assigned to the Monroe-Martin vehicle said they hoped to run an ad in the trade papers headed: "Thanks, Dean and Marilyn, for putting us out of work."

Miss Monroe was fired for absenteeism. The studio said she showed up only five working days in seven weeks of shooting. The star blamed illness for her absences. On film, however, was her much-publicized nude bathing scene.

All told, 20th Century-Fox lost $2 million worth of film by scrapping the picture.

After Marilyn was fired, she was replaced by Lee Remick. Then co-star Dean Martin departed, saying he'd work with no one but Monroe.

$5 Million Paid In Storm Claims, Firms Disclose

NEW YORK (AP)—The Insurance Information Institute says insurance companies have paid some $5 million to date in claims for damage caused by the storm that ravaged the East Coast last March.

About two-thirds of all claims have been adjusted, the Institute said Monday. It described this as an achievement because many owners of summer homes in shore areas were late in reporting damage.

Although claims usually must be filed within 60 days, most insurance companies have allowed an additional 60 days, the institute said.

The institute said the General Adjustment Bureau Inc., which handled about 40 per cent of the total claims for its member capital stock insurance companies, reported 17,488 home losses in New Jersey and 4,325 in New York.

Smaller numbers of losses were handled by the bureau from Maryland, Connecticut, Delaware, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts and Rhode Island.

CAB Affirms Grounding Of Pilot in Fatal Crash

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Civil Aeronautics Board has affirmed the grounding of the pilot whose Imperial Airlines plane crashed in Virginia last November, killing 77 persons, including 31 Pennsylvanians.

The board Monday denied an appeal by the pilot, Ronald H. Conway, from a decision by a CAB examiner upholding the emergency grounding action taken by the administrator of the Federal Aviation Agency.

The CAB said Conway failed to take emergency action in four instances and that this "constituted four separate acts of careless operation of an aircraft."

Alcoa, Union Resume Talks On Contract

NEW YORK (AP)—Bargaining resumed Monday between the Aluminum Co. of America and the United Steelworkers of America (AFL-CIO). An Alcoa spokesman said a wide range of economic and noneconomic issues was discussed.

Until a recess called in the week before Memorial Day, the steelworkers had been holding separate talks with Alcoa, the Reynolds Metals Co. and the Kaiser Aluminum and Chemical Co.

Negotiations with Reynolds and Kaiser are expected to resume some time next week. The union's contracts with the three aluminum manufacturers expire July 31. The Alcoa spokesman said the steelworkers union represents some 12,000 refining, smelting, casting and fabricating employees at 11 Alcoa plants.

Mine Acid Seen Continuing as Major Problem

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Until a scientific breakthrough is achieved, mine acid drainage will remain a problem, according to John Charles Daly, a noted television personality and a member of the Federal Water Pollution Control Advisory Board.

Daly, in Pittsburgh for a meeting of the board and the National Symposium on the Control of Coal Mine Drainage, said Monday most of the cures for mine drainage are as bad as the problem.

"If you try to neutralize the acids in the rivers," he told newsmen, "the chemicals you introduce will pollute the water also."

However, Daly said better control measures would probably help the problem until a scientific breakthrough is achieved.

"Waste can be poured in gradually over a uniform period of the time instead of being dumped in, in large quantities, at irregular periods," he said.

State's Prison Population Hits All-Time High in 1962

By RICHARD L. GRAVES

HARRISBURG (AP)—Pennsylvania's state prison population climbed to an all-time record total during the first quarter of 1962, the State Bureau of Correction reported today.

Dr. Kenneth E. Taylor, deputy commissioner of correction, said the steady increase stems from a greater number of prison commitments by the courts.

It does not reflect any policy to keep prisoners in confinement longer and away from parole, he added.

More prisoners were paroled by the State Parole Board during the first quarter of 1962 than in the same period of 1961 (522 compared to 485), but fewer were paroled by the courts (154 compared to 232).

The bureau said that the number of inmates of state institutions set a new record in each of the first three months of the year, reaching a peak of 8,265 in April. Figures for May were not yet complete, but were expected to show a further boost.

The total for April compared to 7,969 in the same month of 1961. Of the total number of prisoners in the state institutions in April 7,022 were criminal court cases and 1,248 were juvenile court commitments. Most of the increase was in the criminal court total.

The bureau's statistics showed that four of the 10 state institutions were crowded beyond their capacity—particularly the eastern and western classification centers.

With a convict population of 418 in April, the Eastern Diagnostic and Classification Center was operating at more than double its capacity. The western facility was operating at nearly double its so-called "normal working capacity." The total was 242.

Taylor said the rate of commitments by the courts relative to the number of cases being tried was about the same in percentage as previously.

Much of the increased number of commitments, he indicated, came from Philadelphia.

"We will need to study this trend much more closely," he said. The state prison system, he added, does not compile crime statistics such as the Federal Bureau of Investigation's uniform crime statistics.

Some of the increase could have come from the clearance of backlogged cases pending before the big city courts, Taylor said. But, he added, he did not know if that was the case, pending further investigation.

The number of prisoners in the Eastern Diagnostic and Classification Center in April, 1961, was 347. The figure was 121 at the western center.

As their names indicate, the two institutions are way-stops for prisoners headed for the state's other correctional institutions.

The other institutions operating over capacity were Camp Hill, limited to juvenile offenders, and Dallas, Luzerne County. With an April high of 1,432 inmates, Camp Hill was about 107 per cent of capacity. Dallas had an April high of 865 prisoners, a fraction over its normal capacity.

The largest prison population was at the State Correctional Institution for Women at Muncy, Lycoming County. It had an April high of 283 inmates, about 77 per cent of capacity. There were slightly fewer women inmates this year than in April of 1961.

Growers' Referendum To Be Secret

The growers' referendum on the national turkey marketing order, coming up this month, will be by secret ballot, just like other national farm referendums, according to the Warren County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee.

AS each turkey producer marks his ballot "yes" or "no," he will put it in an envelope marked "Ballot" and seal it. If he is voting by mail, the "Ballot" envelope should be inserted in another envelope which will be furnished to him, and the second envelope should be addressed to the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service Office, Referendum results will be announced by the Secretary of Agriculture.

Those eligible to vote in the referendum will include "producer-growers" who marketed more than 3,600 pounds (liveweight) of turkeys in 1961, and "contract-producers" who in 1961 had a risk-of-loss contract in turkeys produced by a producer-grower.

FOR the turkey marketing order to become effective, it must be approved in the referendum by at least two-thirds of the producers voting, by number or by volume of their production.

The voting period will extend from June 18 through 22. The purpose of the order is to help obtain fair prices for producers and consumers and to avoid future disastrous price situations like the one which resulted from overproduction in 1961.

The supply-management provisions of the proposed turkey marketing order will apply directly only to those processors who qualify as "handlers" under the order, should the order be made effective following the producer referendum.

QUALIFIED handlers are those who receive, process and distribute more than 7,000 pounds of turkeys (liveweight) in a marketing year.

All other handlers would be exempt from the provisions of either of two proposed supply-management measures. Like qualified handlers, however, they would be required to keep records and report the quantity of turkeys handled.

Also, with either or both of the order's proposed supply-management regulations in operation, small producers—those who marketed 3,600 pounds or less of turkey (liveweight) in 1961—would not be directly affected and could market their birds through any handler.

Certification Applications Due by July

HARRISBURG — Nurseries and other handlers of nursery stock are required to file an application for inspection and certification by the Department of Agriculture prior to July 1, according to State Agriculture Secretary William L. Henning.

Protection of the homeowner is the desirable result of the nursery inspection program coordinated and enforced by the Bureau of Plant Industry, according to Henning.

Homeowners can buy and plant trees and shrubs with a high degree of assurance that the plants will be free of harmful insects and diseases, he says. Under Pennsylvania law all nurseries growing and selling nursery stock must be inspected by authorized personnel from the Department of Agriculture.

The inspection and certification law is one desired by the nurserymen and a recognized statewide Pennsylvania Nurseries Association, requires its active members to possess an inspection certificate from the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture.

State inspectors may quarantine any infested stock or withhold the issuance of an inspection certificate. Under such conditions the quarantined stock may not be moved or offered for sale until corrective measures are taken by the owner to the satisfaction of the inspector.

During the past season nearly 2,500 nurseries, accounting for 17,000 acres of nursery stock, were inspected and certified.

Farmers Earn Less than 3% From Govt.

Statements are made by many that farmers receive a large part of their income from the Federal government, says N. E. Dodd, chairman of the Warren County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, but Pennsylvania farmers receive less than three per cent of their dollars from Federal sources.

The estimated payments that will be made in 1962 for retiring cropland from crop production, for an incentive to increase wool production and for sharing the costs on sound and soil water conservation practices may total $21,000,000, says Dodd. Of this total, it is expected that $16,000,000 will be for reducing crops.

The total value of agricultural sales, including government payments in 1961 for Pennsylvania was $805,921,000. If state farm income is similar in 1962, less than three per cent of farm income will come from Federal payments.

The significant fact to keep in mind, however, Dodd says, is that economists indicate farm income would be at least 35 per cent less without the state and Federal income would be at least 35 per cent less without the state and Federal programs which affect production and prices. Those who say "get the government out of the farm problem," he adds, may wish to think over the significance of the 35 per cent reduction figure.

Data on production adjustment payments, wool incentive payments and conservation payments estimated for 1962 includes the following:

—$40,447 cropland acres retired for soil bank conservation, with estimated payments to farmers of $3,366,350.

—$5,016 acres retired for wheat stabilization with estimated payments of $2,144,520.

—210,522 corn and sorghum acres and 9,105 barley acres retired in the feed grain program with estimated payments of $16,032,110.

—Wool incentive payments of $359,020.

—Agricultural conservation program payments of $4,990,000.

GUERNSEY WINS

The registered Guernsey bull Hominy Hill Imperial has been named a Gold Star Guernsey Sire by the American Guernsey Cattle Club. "Imperial" was bred by Henry D. Mercer of Hominy Hill Farms, New Jersey, and was last owned by Howard B. and Cyrus Y. Bomberger, Meadow Wood Dairies, Lebanon.

Wednesday, says Bernard Wingert, Warren County farm agent.

The wool pool, including a car from Meadville, and one from Titusville, totaled 61,178 pounds last year. The Titusville car contained approximately 40 to 43 per cent of the wool.

The wool will be graded and shipped on the Pennsylvania Railroad from Meadville on June 25 and graded and shipped on the Erie Railroad from Meadville June 26.

Booklet Explains "That Land Down There"

A new publication to help air travelers understand what soil and water conservation practices look like from the air has just been issued by the U. S. Soil Conservation Service.

A copy of the publication, "That Land Down There," may be obtained from the local conservation service office in the Court House Annex, according to Ralph G. Eckert of the local staff.

The publication, he says, consists of 16 pages, well illustrated with pictures taken from the air along with some from the ground showing close-ups of what is going on "down there."

Unique patterns on the land may consist of curving banks of strip-cropping or terraces. Orchards planted on the contour and windbreaks to protect large fields in the Plains States have their own peculiar pattern. Ponds that dot the landscape illustrate a practice that has mushroomed among the nation's conservation-minded farmers. And irrigation in the arid parts of the country has made striking changes in the appearance of the land from up high.

These and other land features are well illustrated in this new publication.

Senior BWI Agriculture Officer In Warren for Six-Weeks' Study

Quota, Acreage Proclamations Postponed by Congress to June 15

Proclamations relating to marketing quotas and acreage allotments for the 1962 crop of wheat have been temporarily postponed, according to an announcement by Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman.

THE postponement was authorized by legislation recently enacted by Congress which permits the Secretary of Agriculture to defer until June 15 any proclamation as to marketing quotas and acreage allotments for the 1963 wheat crop which would otherwise have been required to be declared by May 15.

N. E. Dodd, chairman of the Warren County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, reminds wheat growers that the wheat Stabilization Program provided under legislation enacted last year applies only to the 1962 crop of wheat.

Under that program, individual farm wheat allotments were reduced 10 per cent below what they would have been under a minimum national acreage allotment of 55,000,000 acres, and diversion payments were available to those producers who shifted wheat acreage to a conservation use. Wheat price support was available only to those wheat producers who participated in the Wheat Stabilization Program and who stayed within their farm allotments.

DODD emphasizes further that the legislation governing the 1962 wheat program also increased the marketing quota penalty rate as well as the amount of wheat subject to penalty, and extended the quota program to many small farms which were previously exempt from quotas. The marketing quota penalty rate for 1962 "excess" wheat has recently been announced at $1.59 a bushel, compared with a 1961-crop penalty rate of $1.08 a bushel.

Dodd urges wheat growers who are not clear about the wheat quota provisions to check with the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service County Office for full information.

By NATALIE WILLIAMS

Gladstone Morgan, senior agriculture officer attached to the Ministry of Agriculture and Lands for the British West Indies, arrived in Warren Saturday for a six-weeks study of U. S. soil conservation principles and practices in this area.

FROM here he will go to Brookings, S. D., to attend an international seminar; to Berkeley, Calif., to work with the soil conservation service there; to Riverside, Calif., to learn more about diagnosis and improvement of soils, and to Coshockton, Ohio, the training center for the U. S. Soil Conservation Service.

His study of the country's soils and conservation methods is sponsored by the U. S. Agency for International Development. While here he will receive training in soils mapping, the use of soil capabilities and the use of soil capabilities in the preparation of plans for farmers and application measures.

AFTER a brief stop-off in Washington, D. C., he will return to his home in Jamaica, B. W. I., where he will apply what he has learned in this country to his own country's problems.

The soil and water conservation principles and practices in force here are readily applicable to the land in Jamaica, says Ralph Eckert of the local conservation office who brought Morgan to the Times-Mirror for an interview. They can be used everywhere.

THE land in Jamaica is quite different from that found in most parts of this country, Morgan says. It is quite steep and much of it does not seem suitable for cultivation. But 30 per cent of the people in the West Indies depend on agriculture for their livelihood. Morgan plans to encourage the farmers in his homeland to adopt or adapt U. S. practices and will assist them in the application of these practices. It is a slow process, he recognizes, because people are slow to change. But people everywhere tend to be reluctant to accept change, as Eckert points out; many people in this area are still using 1948 methods.

Morgan has a bachelor of science degree from the University of Jamaica and a master's degree in soil conservation from Rutgers University in New Jersey. He also holds a certificate in soil science from the Imperial College of the Tropical Islands in Trinidad. He and his wife, Margaret, have one son, Michael. He is staying at the YMCA.

Author, "Stock Buying Guide" and "Investment for Retirement"

Q. - Two years ago I began a 10 year, $100 a month mutual fund program. But after reading a recent story about mutual funds declining, I am not so sure of my set up. We are near 50.

A. - If you stop to consider that most of the large mutual funds have anywhere from $100 million to well over $1 billion invested in the stock market it should come as no surprise to you that when the market falls, so do mutual funds.

Mutual funds can't exist in a vacuum. Some, invested mainly in bonds, obviously did not decline as much as did those invested in stocks. Those invested in "far out" glamour stocks suffered more than others which had most of their money in more stable issues. But when you get a panic drop in market prices no group escapes unscathed.

If you are two years along on a ten-year periodic investment program you were relatively unaffected. Your fund has a long, favorable record. The drop in price means that your current payments are buying more shares than did your monthly payments of six months ago. Over the next eight years this should work out to your advantage.

Besides, if you are under a front load contractual plan to quit now would mean a heavy loss in prepaid commissions.

It seems to me your slogan should be: business as usual.

Q. - Are mutual funds the only practical way a person of modest means can invest regularly? 2.

Republicans 'Assuming' Rockefeller Is Choice

By JACK BELL

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — The quiet assumption among most Republicans attending national committee meetings here appears to be that Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York will be their 1964 presidential nominee.

Behind all the hoopla of optimistic declarations that their party is going to win control of the House and add several governorships in the November election, there is soft-pedaled hotel room talk about the choice of the next man to oppose President Kennedy.

In this talk there is a strong disagreement on whether former Vice President Richard M. Nixon can or can't be counted out of the 1964 running if he wins the governorship of California.

There is a lively interest in what will happen if George Romney wins the governorship of Michigan. There is talk that William Scranton would make an attractive presidential candidate if he can take over the statehouse in Pennsylvania.

There is solid support for the idea that Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona deserves at least second place on the 1964 ticket as spokesman for the party's conservatives.

All of this seems to shake down to the belief that, at this stage, Rockefeller is the man most likely to arrive at the top of the ticket—providing he does not stumble over some now unforeseen obstacles in his bid for reelection with a resounding majority.

In these circumstances National Committeeman George L. Hinman of New York is playing it cool. Hinman says—and this is confirmed by other key committee members—that he is asking no commitments for his candidate.

"All I am doing is trying to find out what the situation is in individual states," he said. "We want to know more about what is going on than we did in 1959."

Rockefeller made an abortive bid to oppose Nixon for the 1960 nomination but quit late in 1959 when he found the GOP cards were stacked for Nixon.

If Rockefeller wins re-election—and Hinman thinks he will by a big margin—things will be different in 1963. Republicans then are likely to see a duplicate of the drive Sen. John F. Kennedy put on for the Democratic nomination in 1958 and 1959. This went down to grass roots, state-by-state organization for delegates.

State Ag Dept. Delays Action on Apple Order

HARRISBURG (AP)—The State Agriculture Department plans to wait two to three weeks before testing producer sentiment on a proposed new state apple marketing order.

He made the statement Monday as the Agriculture Department closed the record on public hearings involving the apple marketing plan.

Last month the department held two days of public hearings on the proposal which, if approved by producers, would allow the Commonwealth to levy an assessment on apple production to finance research, promotion and public information to boost sales of Pennsylvania-produced apples.

The record of the hearings was left open until Monday for those apple growers wishing to file additional testimony.

Hennings must decide whether to issue the order as proposed or make some changes before submitting it to a referendum of growers.

The State Horticultural Association has led support for the move.

Scandia 4-H Leaders Chosen

Bruce Swanson and Mark Anderson will attend an officers' training session in Warren June 15 and will represent the club at the County 4-H Council meeting June 18, also in Warren. Swanson has been chosen to go to the Pennsylvania State University June 26-29.

The next regular meeting of the club is scheduled for June 22.

Leftist Candidate Leads Peru Presidential Contest

LIMA, Peru (AP)—Leftist Fernando Belaunde Terry forged out front today in most unofficial counts of Peru's presidential election but the three front runners remained close together. The final decision may be up to Congress.

Belaunde, 50, claimed victory even before the complete returns were tabulated after one of the most turbulent campaigns in the history of this Andean nation.

With seven candidates in the field, the top man must get 30 per cent of the vote plus one vote for election. Otherwise Congress chooses the president. Belaunde's vote in most tabulations was hovering around the 33 per cent mark.

Belaunde's two leading opponents—ex-dictator Manuel Odría, 66, and anti-Communist leftist Victor Raul Haya de la Torre, 67—were not conceding.

Ballots cast in Sunday's election were estimated to total about 1.5 million, about 75 per cent of the registered voters.

Radio America, which called itself independent in the heated campaign, reported Belaunde far out front with 340,082 votes to 236,981 for Haya and 291,772 for Odría.

The official count is not expected to be completed until next Monday.

PUC Is Studying Complaints Filed Against Firm

HARRISBURG (AP)—The Public Utility Commission held under advisement today its decision on complaints against the service provided by the Avella Water Co. of Washington County.

The commission concluded hearings Monday in its effort to determine if two listed officers of the firm are individually liable for penalties that could stem from the service complaints.

At the hearings Paul Claffoni and Mrs. Margaret Claffoni Sovier, his daughter, contended they should not be named as respondents in the water service case. They were listed as president and secretary-treasurer respectively in the firm's annual reports.

Claffoni contended he was not president, but was a stockholder. He told the hearing his sole objective in company operations was to assist its subscribers in receiving their water.

Young Philadelphia Area Actress Found Slain in N.J. Gravel Pit

TOMS RIVER, N.J. (AP)—The bathing suit clad woman found beaten to death in an abandoned gravel pit has been identified as an aspiring Pennsylvania actress, Phyllis Jones, 24.

The girl's father, Arch R. Jones, of Norristown, Pa., made the identification Monday night. Miss Jones had been reported missing Sunday morning. The father told police she had been visiting at Long Beach Island.

Results were awaited today on a second autopsy performed on the body by New Jersey pathologists, who were joined by the chief New York City medical examiner, Dr. Milton Halpern.

Miss Jones' body was discovered Sunday night near Whiting by a passing motorist. The face of the attractive, red-hair woman, was mutilated from a blow on the head. Her hands were bound behind her.

Miss Jones, who lived at 1930 Berkley Road in the Westover Woods section of West Norriton Township, Pa., was an actress at the Hedgerow Theater in Moylan, Pa.

Friends said she lived part of the time at the Hedgerow School, an adjunct of the theater, to be closer to her dramatics classes and acting.

She also held a job as a secretary at the Burroughs Laboratories in Paoli, Pa.

Police have questioned the director of the Hedgerow School, Rose Schulman, 52, who went with Miss Jones on a beach outing early Saturday morning.

The two women apparently separated during the day and Miss Schulman returned from Long Beach Island to Pennsylvania alone. Miss Schulman said Miss Jones had indicated that she might stay overnight at the beach.

Police said Miss Jones was struck a heavy blow with either a blunt instrument or a fist. Her hands were bound with the neck strap of her bathing suit halter. She had not been sexually assaulted, according to Dr. William Young, who performed the first autopsy.

Miss Jones had studied and performed at the Hedgerow Theater for two summers and was slated for more roles in the fall.

Jones and his family are natives of Scranton, Pa., and have lived in the Norristown area for the last five years. They also lived for a time in Dover, Del., where Miss Jones attended high school. From 1956 to 1960 she studied at the University of Delaware, majoring in liberal arts.

Heavy Rains Pelt Warren, Damage Light

Borough police received numerous calls during the storm. This morning's call sheet was three pages long. It usually runs less than a page.

MOST calls pertained to trees and limbs across roads. When possible, police removed them. However, when unable to do so they called the Parks Department.

Four calls were made in conjunction with defective electrical operations, such as wires down and transformers sparking. In such cases police called Penelec, which had several crews out working.

There were no injuries and no damage to houses, according to local police.

Other areas of the country did not fare so lightly.

The Erie area was still mopping up today after heavy thunder and lightning storms Sunday afternoon and evening dumped 2.43 inches of rain, knocked out at least 1,000 telephones and leveled a barn with loss of more than $25,000.

SCORES of Erie residents cleaned silt from scattered flooded streets and basements. Utility people were still working to restore service in some areas.

The U.S. Weather Bureau reported that the storms spawned a chain-like effect. One was hardly over when another one began.

A severe windstorm swept the area of Amesbury, Mass., uprooting trees, knocking out power lines and damaging some 50 automobiles. Observers estimated wind gusts reached 120 mph. and power and telephone service was disrupted in the town of 11,000.

Thunderstorms and showers broke out across wide fronts from the Rockies to the Atlantic Seaboard.

HEAVY rain and hail fell in some areas. A tornado hit the Teapot Rock area 27 miles north of Casper, Wyo., injuring four persons and causing property damage.

Cool air spread into sections of the Midwest today, but humid weather clung to broad areas in the South and East. Lower temperatures, however, are expected locally for the next few days.

FARES HIKED

HARRISBURG (AP)—A nickel increase in fares was put into effect today by the Austin Motor Coach Co., Turtle Creek.

The Public Utility Commission authorized the increase Monday. The boost will raise from 10 cents to 15 cents the fare on the firm's East Pittsburgh-Linhardt Route and from 25 cents to 30 cents the fare on its East Pittsburgh-Universal Line.

The treasurer's report was approved showing a balance of $134,034.30.

The board approved the payment of $2,909.77 for special services, substitutes employed, recreation and janitorial service and overtime; $7,921.89 for the school lunch program; and $36,997.75 for bills received.

IT was reported that a number of reimbursement checks had been received from the National Defense Education Act and federal lunch subsidy; $3,657.50 for the language laboratory; $5,020.41 for guidance salaries; $774.69 for science equipment and mathematics and science library books; $1,592.16 for the February lunch program and $1,747.92 for the March lunch program.

Mrs. Paul Harrington was approved to give Paul Johnson homebound instruction.

Recommendations of A. J. McDonnell, administrator of the Dr. Elizabeth Beatty Fund and assistant principal at Beatty Junior High, were also approved as part of a report on the past academic year. McDonnell recommended that citizenship education classes should be continued, along with more close cooperation of the fund with the Beatty Citizenship League. Another Beatty Fund tour should be considered, he recommended, and a schoolwide Code of Conduct, already a topic for the Beatty Parent's Group, should be established. The report terminated McDonnell's duties with the fund, and the board approved a letter of commendation to a letter to McDonnell for his association with the fund for the past five years as administrator.

SUMMER school assignments were approved by the board. Courses to be taught, and the instructors, are: World History, Ralph Voegter; American History, Luke Noecker; Biology, William Oelslager; Health, William Miller; Driver Education, Harry Spackman and Thomas Krissy; Personal Typing, Mrs. Helene McClure; and English, Edward Miller.

The board voted that a letter be sent to the Warren Dental Association for dental corrections of 23 students.

Use of the high school baseball field for a softball league was also approved.

THE board approved a recommendation by the Building and Grounds Committee that Harry Haskins be hired to replace Jav Gorton, at a monthly rate of $280.00. Also, on the committee's recommendation, Victor Lauffenberger was hired at a substitute rate of $1.50 an hour to replace Leonard Hansen who recently underwent an operation.

A final item approved on the building and grounds report was the acceptance of a bid by Eric Nystrom Jr., contractor, to replace damaged acoustical plaster ceiling in the Beatty teacher's dining room.

On the recommendation of the Teacher's committee, the board approved with regret the resignations of H. Lee Griffin, and A. J. McDonnell.

The board approved a committee recommendation that the price of school lunches be raised from 30 cents to 35 cents, in an effort to make the lunch program self-supporting.

RALPH BROWN was approved, on the teacher's committee recommendation, as acting assistant principal. The following new teachers and their salaries were approved for 1962-63: Joseph L. Giordano $4,350.00; Mrs. Nancy

Old Landmark Hit by Fire

One of Warren's oldest landmarks, the former Frank Clemons home, 315 Fourth Ave., was slightly damaged by fire at 11:40 this morning.

Firemen reported that the blaze started on the second floor in the rear of the two-story structure and could possibly have been started by children playing in the building.

The building is owned by Dr. R. A. Probst. Damage to the building was slight but firemen did report having to tear some of the second ceiling down.

Firemen secured from the scene at 12:20 p. m. Engine 1, Engine 2 and the ladder truck responded to the call.

Labor Dispute May Reduce State Aid

THE school board president said the school board will contact the Department of Public Instruction about the possibility of receiving full reimbursement if it becomes impossible to conduct 180 school days.

Since the reimbursement is handled by the Department of Public Instruction and the building program by the State Building Authority, it is doubtful that much can be done, Cyphert said.

With the possibility that the school projects will be delayed further, making it impossible to resume school at all next term, Cyphert said the only other alternative would be to transport the pupils elsewhere.

HOWEVER, he said, this becomes a problem because most area schools are filled to capacity.

Under the Oct. 11 schedule most holidays will be eliminated this school year, he said.

Cyphert said all the children in the system will suffer if the projects are not completed by, at the latest, Oct. 11.

The residents of the Tidoute area are "very unhappy" about the situation, Cyphert said. "I have received numerous comments on the subject," he concluded.

Glarnier, $5,100; Kathleen Moran, $4,200; Milo Muirhead; H. George Perkins, $4,200.

Annual reports were approved from the school doctors, dental hygienists, school nurses, and the home and school visitor.

Dr. John Larson, school medical examiner, made 2,050 examinations, spending 482 hours during the year.

SCHOOL nurses gave treatment and advice to 1,726 students for the year. Eight hundred and eighty-eight students were examined by Dr. Lawrence Krespan, school dentist, while the dental hygienist, Mrs. Pauline Lyon, examined 2,207 students.

Home and school visitor Harry Danielson made 185 home visits during the past year, had 89 conferences with parents, and had personal contacts with 307 students on an individual basis.

It was also reported that 90 percent of the boys involved in the Beatty Junior High Swim Program learned to swim after the first test period.

WAHS 'Road' Sparks Debate By School Board

The sum of $15,000 has been withheld from payment to the contractor, pending Branna's repair of the road to meet specifications. "You're stuck with your specifications," Eaton told the board, "but the time for nonsense is over."

THERE is cause to doubt the word of the contractor, Eaton said. Sometime ago it was decided to withhold a check until assurances were given that bills for supplies and materials had been paid and such suppliers satisfied. A representative of the contractor, a Mr. Rubinstein, assured Eaton that all bills had been taken care of and that accounts were clear. The very next day, he said, he discovered that there was $5,000 in disputed claims against him. "Rubinstein is not reliable in his word," Eaton stated.

At the time the contracts were let and the specifications changed, the contractor pointed out that a gravel base would be just as good as crushed slag. It represented a reduction in costs at the time, Eaton said, "but now you'll pay through the nose."

FURTHERMORE, the gravel used was not specially ordered but merely "run of the mill" gravel off the hill. And whereas the specifications called for a 10-ton roller, a five-ton roller was used, Eaton said.

It was also noted that at the time the road was being put in it was difficult to make an inspection. Board members were denied access to the site. But it's the architect who finally puts his "stamp of approval" on the job.

One the recommendation of Wallace Cowden, chairman of the board's Finance Committee, it was decided to recommend to the Warren Area School Authority that the payment due the architect be withheld and that all payments for construction be stopped until the matter is settled.

Youngsville School Board Adopts Budget for 1962-63

YOUNGVILLE—At a regular meeting last night the Brokenstraw Valley School Board adopted a budget for the 1962-63 school year of $842,206.

The budget was increased $134,290 over the 1961-62 budget.

Of the total amount budgeted for expenditures $157,069 is the annual rental for the three building projects now under construction.

It was estimated by board members, that $515,448 will be received in reimbursement from the state. This will leave $326,758 to be financed by local taxation.

The board found it necessary to increase every category except capital outlay, to meet the increased salaries and additional personnel.

The remainder of the increase, board members said, will go for transportation, operation of plant, social security insurance and insurance.

Robert L. English was hired to fill the high school vacancy created by Enea Caravacci Jr., who recently resigned as music instructor.

Miss Janet Anderson and Miss Linda Forsberg, past graduates of Youngsville High school, who are training to be teachers, were employed to assist Allen Tubbs in the summer playground program.

Resignations were accepted from Mrs. Janet Massing and Robert Scott.

The board appointed a committee of five members to draw up specifications and receive bids for furniture for the off-campus elementary room.

Kenneth Franklin is chairman of the group. Sept. 6 was approved as the opening day for the 1962-63 school year.

Board members directed H. J. Sherwood, supervising principal, to prepare a school calendar based on the Sept. 6 opening day.

The calendar will be presented at the July meeting.

A telegram from Washington informed the Times-Mirror this morning that Senator Scott said: "I was particularly pleased to see the provisions in the appropriation bill for forest research. This important activity provides the sound basis of knowledge needed to guide programs aimed at protecting, managing and utilizing the timber, water, forage, wildlife and recreation resources of our forest lands."

"I would like to speak specifically of two items proposed by the committee, included in the increase for forest research. The first is $200,000 for expanded research on restoration of strip mined land in the Appalachian region and the second is $250,000 for construction of a forest recreation and wildlife habitat laboratory at Warren, Pa."

Court Studying Suits On Apportionment Law

HARRISBURG (AP)—The Dauphin County Court has made up its mind on two suits challenging the Commonwealth's present legislative apportionment laws.

President Judge William H. Neely said the six-member court would issue its ruling "sometime this week." He said the court reached its decision and its opinion is now being written.

Four suits had been filed challenging the state's present House of Representatives and Senate apportionment laws on grounds they are unconstitutional.

The court ruled last week it could not enjoin the governor to call a special session of the legislature to consider the matter. Two suits were withdrawn subsequent to the court ruling.

The question now facing the court in the two remaining suits is whether it can order the legislature to reapportion now or postpone action until the 1963 legislative session.

The state constitution requires the legislature to redistrict every 10 years, but establishes no penalty for failure to act.

The constitution also spells out that once the legislature has adjourned, only the governor can call it back into special session. The court's ruling last week that it could not force the governor to call a special session was viewed in some quarters as a move to put off action on the controversial matter until 1963.

The House was last reapportioned in 1953, the Senate in 1922.

The Brighter Side

bring up a child is far more important than where you bring it up.

My wife and I are raising—I like the old-fashioned term better than the word rearing—our daughter, Tracy Ann, who'll be 9 years old this month, in the nation's biggest city. We think the place has certain decided advantages for this purpose—and no major defects.

We live in a big Manhattan housing project built by an insurance company. The place swarms with kids, and they have three large, supervised playgrounds in which they can enjoy any game from hop-scotch to basketball.

The place is well-guarded by day and by night. There is no need for them to play in the street. A block away is a big public swimming pool.

A block distant in another direction is one of the best public schools in the city. Within the radius of a mile or so are a half dozen top private schools.

In the summer a city kid can get the thrill of learning about nature by going to a camp in the country for a few weeks. Or the whole family can have a vacation together at the seashore. Living in Manhattan, we find we can afford these things by the money we save as a result of not having to keep up an unneeded automobile.

In the winter a city parent here doesn't have to worry so much about his kid wandering out on an unwatched, half-frozen pond and falling through the ice. He can take his child a sled-riding in a public park, ice skating in Rockefeller Center, or on a winter vacation to a resort.

An unforgettable advantage to raising a child in any big city is the many varied cultural experiences he can get in a quality and quantity unmatched elsewhere—music, ballet, and the theater, in zoos, handicraft schools, and museums of all kinds.

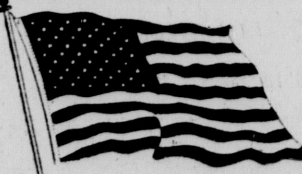

If your child is a genius, or retarded, or has a particular health problem of any kind, he is more likely to find facilities for the special care his situation requires in a big city than anywhere else.

Our own daughter is hearty, happy and robust. It is true she has developed one defect while living all of the short 9 years of her life here.

Two of her upper front teeth need straightening. But after reviewing the situation from all angles, we've decided we can get them fixed here just about as well as if we moved to the suburbs.

When it comes to a place to raise a child, we say, "Make ours Manhattan."

Stuart Leads Bucs to 6-1 Win over Cubs

Dick Finds Range, Blasts Two Homers

Dick Stuart

CHICAGO (AP)—Dick Stuart, Pittsburgh Pirate slugger, appears to have found the right groove for his big bat.

The colorful first baseman, who led the Bucs in home runs (35) and RBIs (117) last season, had trouble getting started this year.

In the first 51 games, Stuart hit only six homers and batted in 22 runs. But in the last six contests, he has blasted three round-trippers to drive in eight runs.

Two of those homers came Monday and accounted for five runs as the Pirates dumped Chicago 6-1.

Stuart's first home run was an inside-the-park sock down the third base line in the first inning. It came with two down and Billy Virdon on first via a single. The ball bounded into the Chicago bullpen and disappeared under a tarpaulin. By the time outfielder Billy Williams could get it, Stuart had crossed the plate.

Then in the sixth inning, Stuart hit one out of Wrigley Field after Dick Groat had walked and Bob Skinner had beat out an infield hit.

Those two blasts, plus a run-scoring single by Skinner in the third, gave Joe Gibbon more than enough room to pick up his first win of the season.

Gibbon, out the first two months of the season because of a sore arm, did not go the distance, however. Rain held up the game for an hour and nine minutes in the eighth inning and when play resumed, Diomedes Olivo relieved Gibbon and retired the last four men in order.

Gibbon gave up six singles and a double but was aided by three double plays—all started by second baseman Bill Mazeroski.

The Pirates hammered three Cub pitchers for 12 hits, getting 10 off loser Don Cardwell (2-7). Harvey Haddix (4-2) was slated to pitch against Glenn Hobbie (1-7) today in the second game of the four-game series.

Conflicting Reports on Conflict!!

NEW YORK (AP)—The reports on the conflict were conflicting. New York Yankee Manager Ralph Houk said Baltimore Manager Billy Hitchcock said his (Houk's) men were throwing at his (Hitchcock's) men. Hitchcock said he said no such thing.

Roger Maris said he was mad at Baltimore catcher Hobie Landrith, but he wouldn't say why. Robin Roberts wouldn't say anything.

And there was little love lost today among the Yankees and the Orioles after a beating of Baltimore rookie outfielder John (Boog) Powell. That led to a Roberts pitch that sailed over Maris' head, and then a swirling melee on the Yankee Stadium diamond that the cops had to quell.

Powell apparently wasn't hurt seriously. He was taken to a hospital where X-rays were negative, and it was anticipated that he would rejoin his team in Boston tonight.

Powell was hit on the head by a pitch by Bud Daley in the fourth inning of a game which the Orioles eventually won 5-3. He was taken off on a stretcher.

When Maris stepped to the plate in the Yankee half of the inning the first pitch by Roberts sailed over his head to the screen. Roger advanced toward the mound, bat in hand, to discuss the situation.

Landrith, who kept his mask on, rushed out and intercepted him halfway, along with plate umpire Charley Berry.

Houk joined the ensuing conference, then Hitchcock, then almost everybody, except Roberts, who surveyed it all in solitary splendor on the mound.

Houk suddenly erupted with rage, and it finally took the police to get him off the field. He and Hitchcock were thrown out.

Maris then hit a soft fly to right. "Hitchcock shouted at me: 'You threw at my man,' said Houk. 'That's when I blew my top. I knew Daley wouldn't throw at him.'"

"I said no such thing," Hitchcock said. "I said, 'my man's in the hospital.'"

"Besides, they've been throwing at my men all during the series. Just look up how many of my men have hit the dirt. I also told Daley he had better control than that."

Daley, pulled for a pinch hitter after five innings, left the Yankees early. His catcher, Elston Howard, said Daley did not throw at Powell. "Why should we? He's an out, man," Howard said.

Beveragemen Three Straight In City League

Making his first appearance in City Softball League competition, Bud Speicher held Warren Merchants to only two hits while the rest of the Warren Beveragemen softball team blasted 11 hits to down the league newcomers, 14-1.

It was the Beveragemen's third victory in the City League against no losses.

McMeans and Hook split the pitching duties for the Merchants, McMeans walking eight and Hook three. McMeans struckout three and Speicher 12.

Lou and Ed Cummings and Barry Drexler each pounded out two hits apiece for the Bottlers while the Merchants could manage only a double and single.

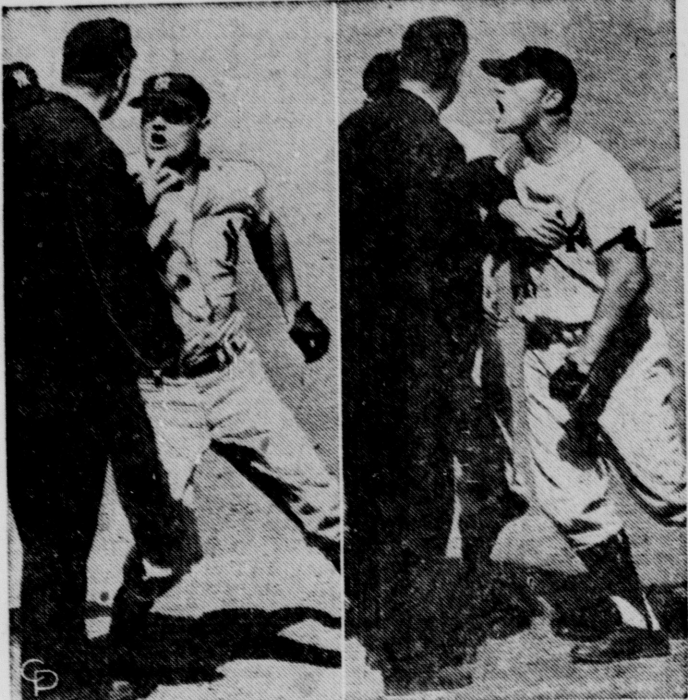

Betts will take on the Merchants tonight on the West Side diamond.

BOSTON (AP)—A homer and double by Willie Kirkland drove in five Cleveland runs Monday as the Indians clobbered Boston 10-0. Tito Francona carried over three runs. He collected a pair of singles in three official trips to the plate.

"I DON'T LIKE YOU, EITHER!"—The fellow with his mouth hanging open here in both pictures is none other than Roger Maris, of all people, and as one might gather, he is protesting a call made by base umpire Al Smith. The "King's" strong protest got him ejected from this game being played in New York.

Down on paper as a soft touch, Philadelphia's spoiler Phillies have ripped up the form sheet by throwing another roadblock at one of the National League's pen-nant hopefuls and adding this entry to their streak-snapping log: June 11—Beat St. Louis 8-5, snapping Cardinals seven-game winning streak.

Monday night's entry was the fourth in a series.

Rollins, Alou Lead Batters

NEW YORK (AP)—At the start of the 1962 spring training baseball season, the Minnesota Twins had five candidates for the third base job. Harmon Killebrew, George Banks, Johnny Goryl, Bill Tuttle and Rich Rollins.

Rollins hit at a .500 clip last week, collecting 14 hits in 28 times at bat and lifting his mark 21 points to .356. He took over the top spot from Kansas City's Manny Jimenez, who slumped 21 points to .341. Al Kaline of Detroit, out with a broken collarbone, is third with .336.

In the National League, Felipe Alou of San Francisco jumped into the lead on the strength of an eight point pickup to .348 while Stan Musial, veteran St. Louis star, zoomed into the runner-up position at .347. Musial has hit safely in his last 12 games during which he has collected 20 hits in 44 times at bat and increased his average 47 points.

Willie Mays of San Francisco continues to set the National League pace in homers with 21 while Tommy Davis of the Los Angeles Dodgers has the most runs batted in, 64. The figures include Sunday's games.

Jim Gentile of Baltimore, lead the American League in homers with 16. Norm Cash of Detroit and Leon Wagner, Los Angeles Angels, have 15. Floyd Robinson of the Chicago White Sox and Wagner share the RBI lead with 4.

Teleprompter Bid $1,700,000 For TV Rights

NEW YORK (AP)—The Teleprompter Corp. Monday night made a bid of $1,700,000—the highest in history—for the ancillary rights of the Floyd Patterson-Sonny Liston world heavyweight championship bout Sept. 22 in Chicago.

Promoter Tom Bolan said two other companies had made bids that did not match Teleprompter's. The company also handled the third Patterson-Ingemar Johansson bout. The price for that one was $800,000.

Bolan, president of Championship Sports, the promoters, said there was a possibility his group might handle the ancillary rights themselves. The rights include radio, television and movies.

Big Win for Robin; Twins Annex First!

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

That was the general tone of the comment Monday night after the incidents that took place during the fourth inning of Baltimore's 5-3 victory over the New York Yankees and precipitated a free-for-all in which Yankee Manager Ralph Houk tried to swing at Orioles' field boss Billy Hitchcock.

Leading off the fourth, Orioles' rookie outfielder John (Boog) Powell was hit in the head by a Bud Daley fast ball, slumped to the ground, but remained conscious. He was carried off the field on a stretcher and taken to a hospital where his injury was diagnosed as contusions of the head.

There wasn't much reaction until the first pitch from Baltimore starter Robin Roberts in the last half of the inning sailed over Roger Maris' head. The Yankee slugger started toward the mound, bat in hand and a fierce look on his face.

Maris was restrained by Orioles' catcher Hobie Landrith as players from both teams raced onto the field, Houk and Hitchcock wound up in a heated argument that ended with umpire Charley Berry holding Houk as the Yanks' skipper attempted to go after Hitchcock.

Daley had nothing to say. He left before the game was over. When it was over, the Yankees were in a tie for second place with the Cleveland Indians, who moved up by belting Boston 10-0 in the only other game played. The Yankee loss permitted idle Minnesota to move into the top spot, a half-game ahead of the runners-up.

The victory for Roberts (1-2), cut by the Yankees earlier in the year, was his first in more than a year—since he last won for Philadelphia's National League Phillies, June 8, 1961—and his first ever as an American Leaguer. He allowed seven hits and three runs in 7 1/3 innings before Steve Barber and Hoyt Wilhelm finished up. Daley (2-1) was the loser.

Willie Kirkland tagged a three-run homer for the Indians in the fourth inning and put them ahead to stay. He later added a two-run double in the seventh for five runs batted in. Bubba Phillips also connected for the winners in support of Jim Perry (5-3), who limited the Red Sox to seven hits. Earl Wilson (3-2) lost it.

The Indians-Red Sox game did not pass without an incident. Before Kirkland connected for his homer, Wilson was charged with a balk that forced in a run. The Red Sox claimed Cleveland's Tito Francona, running at first base, hollered "Hold it Earl," causing the pitcher to stumble on the mound.

Baseball's rules state such deceptive talk is illegal. But umpires John Flaherty and Ed Runge said they had not heard it.

Littler Gaining Speed As Open Favorite

SCENE OF OPEN—Oakmont Country Club near Pittsburgh, is the scene of the 1962 U. S. Open Golf Championship. Oakmont is considered by many to be one of the roughest courses in the country. This is the fourth time that the Open has been played at Oakmont. Among the things dividing the course are the Pennsylvania Turnpike running from the top of the picture to the bottom, separating seven holes from the rest. The Open starts June 14.

OAKMONT, Pa. (AP)—Back to back championships in the National Open Golf Tournament for Gene Littler?

Support was mushrooming today for golf's quiet man in the wake of Littler's brilliant play this year and more woe for tournament favorite Arnold Palmer, who severely gashed a finger on his right hand in a freak accident just when he was confident he had shaken a cold that kept him sub par physically for nearly two weeks.

"Littler's my pick," said two-time former Open champion Gary Middlecoff as he and the other early arrivals relaxed after a practice round at the 6,894-yard Oakmont Country Club course where the 62nd U.S. Open championship begins on Thursday.

"You don't have to be a big hitter to score on this course," said the Memphis dentist. "You have to be able to drive straight and putt well on these slick greens. Littler's playing beautifully, has been all year. Unless he has a big letdown after winning that big one in New Jersey Sunday (the $100,000 Golf Classic at Clinton, where Littler nailed the $25,000 first prize), he can do it."

A year ago, the soft-spoken Californian quietly tamed another fabled course like this one—the Oakland Hills Country Club at Birmingham, Mich.—for his first Open title. It, too, was a course that demanded great accuracy off the tee and a sure putting touch.

Gary Player, the little South African, and veteran Jackie Burke are others who like Littler's chances to become the first defending champion to repeat since Ben Hogan in 1950-51.

A doctor took six stitches in Palmer's third finger on his right hand to close the wound he suffered while he was putting luggage in the trunk of his car late Sunday night at the nearby Latrobe, Pa., airport. The gash went all the way to the bone alongside the knuckle.

"It didn't hurt much," the Masters champion said after a practice round late Monday. Palmer seemed considerably relieved that he could hit so well despite the heavy bandage.

"If it doesn't hurt any more than this," he said, "it won't be bad at all. We experimented with a couple different kinds of bandages and found one that lets me get the right feel of the club."

British Amateur Draws Huge Field to Hoylake

HOYLAK, England (AP)—Thirteen more American golfers were scheduled to go into action here today in the hunt for the British Amateur championship.

They were among nearly 100 players still waiting to contest their first round matches on this historic seaside course.

The entry list is so big this year that the first round is spread over one and a half days.

Monday six Americans fought through to the second round and three more got by because their opponents crashed. Seven Americans were defeated.

The Americans currently share the spotlight with England's Michael Bonallack, the reigning champion, and Ireland's Joe Carr, who is seeking to win the title for the fourth time.

One is Californian Bob Falkenburg, now of Rio De Janeiro, who is known to British sports fans as a former Wimbledon tennis champion.

The other is Robert Sweeney, 50-year-old veteran from Palm Beach, Calif., who surprised tournament officials Monday by turning up at the last minute and producing some cracking golf without any practice on the course.

George Fulton of Roanoke, Va., was matched against M. D. (Binky) Mitchell in the first round. Later in the day Bud Rudolph of Los Angeles, winner of one of Monday's most exciting duels, was lined up against Leslie Blue of Belmont, N. Y., in the second round.

Rudolph edged out David Hoare of England on the 18th hole to win 1-up.

Other winners scheduled to play second round games today included Kenneth Bensen of New York, William F. Castleman of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., Pat Brady of Reidsville, N. C., and Phil Breitfelder of Lincoln, Neb.

All were matched against English players.

FoMoCo Says 'Okay' To Automobile Racing

DETROIT (AP)—Ford Motor Co. apparently is off and racing again but the other major auto firms were divided today on whether to speed after Ford toward open emphasis of horsepower and performance.

Henry Ford II dropped the starting flag Monday by withdrawing from an industry-wide resolution barring support or participation in speed events.

"Racing is one of our biggest spectator sports," Ford said. "We like to have our cars win races."

Even during the ban, Pontiac enjoyed numerous racing victories. Names with racing connotations—Grand Prix, Lemans, Monza—have appeared on autos.

A statement from Chrysler said

Ford's withdrawal made the agreement inoperative.

A General Motors release said the firm "continues to endorse" the 1957 agreement while considering Ford's move. An American Motors spokesman said flatly his firm was sticking with the pact.

The agreement five years ago by members of the Automobile Manufacturers Association was unanimous. It banned participation or assistance in auto races.

New AHL Right for Baltimore?

CLEVELAND (AP)—The board of governors of the American Hockey League may start discussions today on the application by Baltimore interests for a new AHL franchise.

The decision reportedly hinges on whether or not the new Baltimore Arena will be completed in time for the 1962-63 season.

Seeking a Baltimore franchise are Zandy Kreiger, an attorney associated with the Baltimore Orioles baseball club, and Robert (Jake) Embry, who was once with the old Baltimore Bullets professional basketball team.

At the May meeting, the league refused to allow either Springfield or Rochester, to shift their franchises to Baltimore. If Baltimore is admitted to the current eight-team league, it must build a new squad.

At the opening of the three-day session Monday, James G. Balmer of Pittsburgh was voted the first award of the James C. Hendy Memorial Plaque.

The 71-year-old Balmer is retiring after serving as league president for one year. He was general manager of the Pittsburgh Hornets for 27 years.

It was reported Jack Riley, general manager of the Rochester club, had been offered the league presidency.

The plaque is to be given annually in memory of Hendy, former general manager of the Cleveland Barons who died early in 1961. It goes to the individual considered to have done the most for the league over the past year.

was at bat and there were two men on, no outs. A fly ball was hit to right field, caught by Mike McKarski who threw to second for the second out then Jeff Blum passed it to Gale Hultquist at first for the third out.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

(Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.)

FOR WED., JUNE 13, 1962

MARCH 21 to APRIL 20 (Aries)—These oldies can keep this day in line, as you will wish: To give within your means and by your principles, and so save those other nine by that stitch in time! Hard work builds strong gains.

APRIL 21 to MAY 21 (Taurus)—Venus going to most auspicious aspect tomorrow presages with fresh stimulus and recuperative offerings today, of which you should take keen, prompt advantage. Duties, precision out front.

MAY 22 to JUNE 21 (Gemini)—Day sits between favorable configurations of yesterday and tomorrow, but it needs its own drive, incentive, individuality, special attention. Neither rest in the past nor dream ahead: do, and grow.

JUNE 22 to JULY 23 (Cancer)—While generally auspicious, few Signs have the particularly favorable aspect your Moon maintains now. Let this mean appropriate action, rehabilitation, and only room for hope, work and faith.

JULY 24 to AUGUST 23 (Leo)—You, too, enjoy strengthening assets, but do not look for these in material and monetary ways alone. Communicate with those whose interests align with yours, and learn of others.

AUGUST 24 to SEPTEMBER 23 (Virgo)—Increase prestige, augment good effects by virtue of reinforced stability and know-how and through sheer courage, which always has its power from past accumulated stamina-assets.

SEPTEMBER 24 to OCTOBER 23 (Libra)—Venus' increasingly favorable aspect urges your steadiness and resoluteness to the fore, guided by respect for details and regard for due rights and privileges. Your example watched.

OCTOBER 24 to NOVEMBER 22 (Scorpio)—Put your best positive qualities to the wheel and press forward accountably, if necessarily slower at times. Never rush when pitfalls, loopholes are about; disquietly supersensitiveness.

NOVEMBER 23 to DECEMBER 22 (Sagittarius)—Will be moments when interruptions, discussions, contradictions COULD annoy, hinder progress and ruffle disposition IF you permit. Take them as matter or course, you can profit from them.

DECEMBER 23 to JANUARY 20 (Capricorn)—A number of things up for more thorough consideration, including regulations, system, extracurriculars and those "minor" but usually found-to-be important details. Discount friction.

JANUARY 21 to FEBRUARY 19 (Aquarius)—Head straight for the urgent tasks, and don't rush them either, no matter what more pleasant plans await. This way free time earned will feel wonderful. Shun dissenters, complainers.

FEBRUARY 20 to MARCH 20 (Pisces)—Under present aspects it would be well to review schedule; where could you debate or add, to enhance, reinforce. Expert advice not amiss. Young people's affairs need your strategy.

YOU BORN TODAY: This is the middle sector of Gemini, the Twins, the dual personality Sign. And don't forget, this means plenty of personality and versatility besides meaning contradictions and occasionally excessive energy-spending. You are clever at recognizing public requirements and what pleases the eye; could do well in work that sells or otherwise contacts many people.

Three Troopers Killed in N. J. Accident

KEARNY, N.J. (AP) — Three state troopers were crushed to death when a bus rammed their patrol car and plowed over them on the New Jersey Turnpike Monday in an accident involving four vehicles.

The driver of the bus, Raymond E. Peters Jr., 35, of Easton, Pa., told police investigators that his brakes failed. The big Royal Blue Coach Inc. vehicle struck a passenger car, careened into the police cruiser and settled atop it.

The bus underwent a thorough check this morning by investigators from the state police, the Public Utility Commission and the Interstate Commerce Commission. No official findings were reported immediately.

The accident occurred on the turnpike just north of the Passaic River Bridge.

Dead were Troopers Joseph De Frino, 25, of Lyndhurst, who was driving the cruiser, Milan Simcak, 36, of Paramus, and Arthur J. Abagnale Jr., 26, of Cliffsides.

Five persons were injured—Peters, the two passengers in the bus, a rider in the private car and the driver of the dump truck.

According to the police account, De Frino was driving his two companions to Interchange 18. They had been relieved from duty for the day a few minutes before the accident.

They encountered the dump

CHURCH GIVES REACTOR
TOKYO (AP) — More than 1,500 representatives of church, education, government and industry were present at the recent dedication here of a $360,000 nuclear reactor given by American Episcopalians to St. Paul's (Rikkyo) University.

Attractive for that buffet: mound potato salad on a platter; surround with the inner curly yellow leaves of chicory; arrange thin rings of red and green pepper, alternating the colors, over the potatoes.

truck parked in the right lane of the 3-lane turnpike, disabled with a flat tire.

They ordered the driver, Nicholas Bellarosa, 30, Bloomfield, to move the truck to a wider portion of the highway.

As the truck moved down the road, the cruiser followed at about 15 miles an hour with its blinker light flashing.

In the center lane behind the police and the truck was a passenger car driven by Albert Donahue, Union City. Behind Donahue was the bus.

As Donahue's car passed a rise, the bus closed swiftly and smacked it from behind, sending the car skidding into a guard rail. The bus glanced off and walloped the police cruiser. The patrol car hurtled into the dump truck, and the bus plowed forward over the car and crushed the troopers. The bus stopped, upright, atop the smashed cruiser.

A spokesman for Royal Blue

Coaches, a Clinton firm, said in New York that the bus was a local between Allentown, Pa., and Newark. It was making a run to New York after completing its route.

ADMIRAL HONORED—Rear Adm. John F. Davidson of Warren, receives his hood as doctor of laws at Allegheny College from Prof. Philip M. Benjamin, left, also a former Warren resident. The professor assisting in the investment, at right, is not identified. Adm. Davidson, until recently superintendent of the U. S. Naval Academy at Annapolis, was honored during Allegheny's 147th annual commencement recently.

College Honors Admiral Davidson

MEADVILLE — Two Warren friends of long standing met again at Allegheny College's 147th Commencement Exercises recently as Prof. Philip M. Benjamin presented Rear Adm. John F. Davidson, superintendent of the United States Naval Academy, for the degree of Doctor of Laws. Others, taking part in the investiture, were Dr. Julian L. Ross, dean of instruction, and college President Lawrence L. Pelletier. Prior to the ceremony and a visit of Professor Benjamin to the Naval Academy this spring the most recent meetings of the two friends had been in Ankara, Turkey, in 1960 and in Oslo, Norway, in 1955.

Adm. Davidson is a graduate of Warren High School in the class of 1923, and a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Perry A. Davidson. Professor Benjamin is a WHS graduate of 1921, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Benjamin, and a brother of Mrs. Neil D. Paterson.

Among other honorary degree recipients at the exercises were Bruce Catton, American Heritage editor and Civil War writer and Rear Adm. Robert B. Brown, superintendent of the Bethesda (Md.) National Naval Health Center, an Allegheny graduate of 1929.

Also present for the commissioning of 32 Air Force ROTC graduates was Brig. General L. Frederick Loesch, USAF, who graduated from Allegheny in 1939.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (AP) — Evangel College here is putting up a new $190,846 library building.

Recipes often call for slicing green beans in 1 inch diagonal lengths. After washing (and scrubbing) the beans in cold water, drain. Stack three or four beans together and slice into the desired lengths. Cutting several beans at one time in this way saves time.

'62 Street Program Well Under Way, DeBell Tells Borough Council

The initial step in Warren's 1962 street improvement project is now 50 per cent complete and should be finished by the end of this week, Borough Engineer Robert DeBell told Borough Council last night.

DeBell said that the prime coating of tar has been applied to approximately half the streets slated to get such treatment this year. As soon as that is complete, he said, highway workers will begin full improvement of other streets on the list.

The borough is currently engaged in a three-year street improvement program which will eventually see all accepted streets in the borough paved.

DeBell also said that the Glade Run annual cleanup is complete, with washed-down gravel removed from stilling basins. Cost of the cleanup was $600, he said. He also reported that the borough's storm-sanitary sewer separation project is almost completed, with only minor details to be finished and cleanup completed.

JOHN B. Pellegrino, his wife and daughter appeared before council to protest proposed parking regulations on Shanz Street. They reside at 12 Shanz. They pointed out that people on the odd-numbered side of the street are now parking in front of the Pelle-grino property. The complaint was referred to committee.

Mayor A. L. Langdon Wants Dam Fixed

Mayor A. L. Langdon called attention to the deterioration of the dam on Conewango Creek just above the Pennsylvania Ave. bridge.

The mayor said that if the dam is allowed to deteriorate, it will allow the creek level to fall, creating "an eyesore where we now have a beauty spot."

The old dam was erected some years ago to funnel water into a sawmill race, which in turn fed a mill now located on the so-called "island" in the Allegheny. It has fallen into disrepair, the mayor noted.

Council said it would refer the idea to committee.

The mayor also cited a Times-Mirror feature story which told how a local man, Francis Wickham, had voluntarily painted and polished historical plaques on the borough's monuments in preparation for Memorial Day. The mayor commended Wickham for his voluntary work.

Council last night also voted to purchase some 155 parking meters from the Dual Parking Meter Co., of Pittsburgh, a subsidiary of the Rockwell Manufacturing Co., for a price of $6,812. The price includes both double and single-headed meters set for varying lengths of time, and allows for trade in of worn-out meters.

POLICE Chief Michael E. Evan said purchase of the new meters will complete a modernization program begun some time ago. Some of the meters being replaced are more than 20 years old, he said. The old meters have been replaced gradually.

A bid from the Kuntz Equipment Co. to supply Duncan-Miller meters was not according to specifications, the Public Safety Committee ruled.

In an hour-and-a-half session last night council also:

- Passed on second reading an ordinance amending sections of the 1962 borough paving ordinance to permit variations in widths on certain streets now being paved;
- Heard first reading of an ordinance to accept Watson Place as a borough street;
- Accepted the bid of Simones & Cook for a used 1960-model backhoe for a price of $1,350.50.
- Passed a memorial resolution honoring the late George M. Topper, Fire Department driver, who died late Saturday.

—Passed a motion requesting the Civil Service Commission to hold examinations for Fire Department hoseman.

—Approved a lease with the Cornplanter Drum and Bugle Corps for lease of War Memorial Field for a drum corps contest on June 22.

Surgeons Work To Save Children Hurt in Crash

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — Leading Argentine surgeons labored today to save many youngsters gravely injured when a commuter train rammed a school bus jammed with more than 100 school children Monday.

Two among the injured died Monday night, raising the death toll in the crash at a fog-shrouded railroad crossing to 43. Eighty-one persons, most of them children under 10, were on the injured list.

Some of the mangled youngsters died when plasma and blood transfusion supplies ran out at the four hospitals to which the injured were taken from the crash scene.

Emergency calls for blood transfusions brought 1,500 responses within two hours, police reported. Some of Argentina's leading surgeons were among the 250 doctors who rushed to help.

Police arrested the grade crossing attendant and held the train's engineer and a fireman for questioning. The attendant told police he had lifted the crossing barriers for a truck and, believing the track was still clear, motioned the bus across.

The train roared out of the fog and hit the bus squarely, scattering bodies, seats and books 30 feet up the track. The bus driver and a teacher were among the dead.

The World Today

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Kennedy administration, which put out word months ago that it would make an all-out fight for medical care for the aged, is backtracking. If any real fight was made it wasn't very obvious.

Secretary of Welfare Abraham Ribicoff opened the way Monday to compromise at a meeting behind closed doors with the House Ways and Means Committee.

He is reported to have said President Kennedy is standing firm on only one point—that, whatever a compromise program turns out to be, it must be tied into the Social Security System. Last March White House sources let out word the administration was coordinating a massive grass roots efforts. This coordinating was supposed to be done with outside organizations backing Kennedy's program.

Kennedy himself, aside from press conference statements, made one big public appeal for support. This was in a speech nationally broadcast from Madison Square Garden May 20.

The administration's efforts—at least to this writer—have always looked less than all-out.

There was some fighting, Kennedy got into an arguing match with the American Medical Association which has opposed his program.

But there has been very little evidence of any real fighting in the one place where it counts most: with Congress.

The big obstacle there was with the Ways and Means Committee, headed by Rep. Wilbur Mills, Arkansas Democrat. In that 25-man committee, where Democrats outnumber Republicans 15 to 10, the majority has been consistently opposed to Kennedy's program.

Leading the opposition is Mills. As chairman, he is a very important man to the administration since his committee also handles tax problems, foreign trade and other matters dear to Kennedy.

Further, Mills, along with Sen. Robert Kerr, Oklahoma Democrat, was cosponsor two years ago of the Kerr-Mills bill which became law and provides medical care for aged people but on a very limited basis.

This Kerr-Mills Act has been one of the biggest headaches to the administration's hopes of getting through its own new medical care bill. It has a lot of supporters in Congress.

Its biggest outside supporter is the AMA, which says the Kerr-Mills Act is just fine although the Kennedy administration takes the position it can't be fine because it doesn't provide coverage for enough aged people.

Nevertheless, the administration has shied away from being harsh about the Kerr-Mills Act.
